THE NEW HOME OF THE WASHINGTON NATIONALS

NATIONALS PARK

The new Washington Nationals Ballpark will set a new standard for ballpark design, reflecting a unique combination of influences which include:

- ★ The innovative arrangement of building masses, materials, systems and technologies for a forward-looking architectural expression that is unique to its location in Washington, D.C.
- ★ Adherence to the best time-tested principles of urban design to ensure accessibility, approachability and fan-friendliness that will rival any ballpark the nation
- ★ Use of state of the art ballpark design concepts to ensure the best game presentation and viewing experience for all fans
- ★ Application of sustainable or "Green" design principles to achieve an environmentally sensitive ballpark

INNOVATIVE ARCHITECTURE, UNIQUE TO DC

The asymmetrical massing of the ballpark responds to each aspect of its surrounding urban context:

- ★ To the envisioned grand boulevard of South Capitol Street, the ballpark presents a monumental facade of architectural precast concrete, metal, and glass with features and articulation consistent with the traditions of D.C.'s best civic buildings. This monumental facade is enlivened by hints of the excitement within the ballpark through ground-level openings offering views into the interior of the seating bowl at street intersections, and through the glass curtain wall enclosing spectator functions that serve the upper levels
- ★ Anchored by this mass, the seating bowl sweeps to the south and east in a circular expression of steel and concrete that offers openness and promontory views out to the Anacostia waterfront

The composition is unified by a simple yet dramatic gesture of a triangular point at the south end that is evocative of the geometry of L'Enfant's plan for the District and is subtly reminiscent of the majestic simplicity of our Nation's Monuments. This structure, allowing views both up the South Capitol facade and through an open plaza to the sweep of the seating bowl to the east, will present a dynamic gateway element to the approach into the city from the South.

An architectural language of modern steel structure and glass give the building an openness and connectedness between interior and exterior that allow its activities to be visible from various outside elevations and allow the building to serve as a beacon when illuminated at night.

The structure is crowned with a unique blade-like sunscreen structure that will serve as a recognizable icon from the ground and across the City's skyline. When illuminated from beneath at night, it will signal the drama of the activity within.

A pair of vertical circulation ramps running the full height of the building will afford fans alternating views into the ballpark and out to the surrounding city, including the Anacostia River, the Capitol Dome and other landmarks such as the Washington Monument.

TIME-TESTED URBAN DESIGN

The ballpark is sited and oriented to present a dramatic welcoming image and ease of access to fans. Because it is anticipated that more than 70% of patrons will arrive from the North (whether from the Navy Yard Metro Station, from parking distributed throughout the neighborhood to the north, or on foot from offices or residential neighborhoods to the north), a large entry plaza at the terminus of Half and N Streets funnels the pedestrian approaches to the ballpark entry gates. The fans enter the main concourse at grade which wraps around the entire ballpark affording views to the playing field at all times. The views into the ballpark down Half Street and from other approaches to the north present a breathtaking vista of the entire upper and lower decks and views to the playing field

The ballpark is located to fit within the existing surrounding street geometry and make gestures of entry respectful of the L'Enfant plan. Gates and openings penetrate the structure where streets terminate at the facades.

The ballpark's perimeter consists of a variety of active elements, such as open views into the ballpark and retail spaces, which will enliven and activate the surrounding city environment, both on game-days and non-game-days alike.

The ballpark is sited for maximum ease of access, whether by Metro, by car, or by foot. Major entrances are oriented toward the Navy Yard Metro station, located just one block away, and parking is expected to be distributed both on-site and at a variety of off-site locations, allowing for a dispersal of vehicular traffic to a variety of points around the periphery of the Capitol Riverfront district.

CUTTING-EDGE GAME PRESENTATION & VIEWING EXPERIENCE

The ballpark will be equipped with all of the most advanced audio-visual technology, food service venues and family-friendly entertainment and gaming alternatives to ensure a compelling and engaging game-day experience.

The seating decks are arranged to create a variety of distinct seating "neighborhoods", each with its own identity and viewing experience.

Entering through the main concourse, 55% of fans will be able to enter the ballpark and access their seats without using vertical circulation such as ramps, stairs, escalators or elevators.

The main concourse will offer an almost complete 360-degree open view of the playing field, so that fans circulating the concourse or purchasing their fares at a concession stand can still view the game.

Suites, the upscale Lexus Presidents and PNC Diamond Clubs, and Club level amenities will provide the opportunity for the most elegant corporate or personal entertainment opportunities of any ballpark in America.

GREEN DESIGN

The new Nationals Park will be one of the most environmentally friendly stadiums in America, with particular attention to issues affecting the health of the Anacostia River such as storm water management and minimization of water pollution.

Within the constraints of budget and schedule the new Nationals Park will strive to become the first major stadium in the U.S. accredited as a "LEED-certified", environmentally friendly building.

LEED CERTIFIED

The DC Sports and Entertainment Commission authorized the Nationals ballpark design team to create an environmentally friendly park. Once certified, Nationals Park will become the first sports venue in the United States to reach LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) Certification. Elements of the project that contribute to LEED Certification efforts are as follows:

A SUSTAINABLE SITE

Nationals Park, located near the Anacostia River, will be categorized as a brownfield redevelopment. It is anticipated that the ballpark will serve as an anchor for urban revitalization of the area.

- ★ The ballpark site is a part of the Voluntary Clean Up Program which provides an opportunity to leave the 25-acre site a much better environment than when it was received
- ★ Environmental remediation efforts are on-going
- ★ The ballpark is easily accessible to public transportation including access to metro stations and local bus routes
- ★ Parking for fuel efficient vehicles and car pools is provided in the on-site garages

USE OF MATERIALS

Water conserving plumbing fixtures are used throughout the project offering substantial water consumption savings. Energy conserving light fixtures are installed including high efficiency field lighting. Building materials used on the project contain a minimum of 10% recycled content and other interior materials including adhesives, carpet glues and paints have low VOC contents. Many building materials were produced regionally, cutting down on transportation costs while promoting the local economy. Landscape plant materials are drought resistant, conserving water by eliminating the need for irrigation. Roof materials offer a high degree of reflectance, minimizing the amount of heat released to the environment.

- ★ A 6,300 square foot green roof is located above a concession area beyond left field.

AN INTRICATE GROUND AND STORMWATER FILTRATION SYSTEM

Due to the ballpark's proximity to the Anacostia River, care was taken to treat storm and ground water runoff.

The result is a unique intricate water filtration system that separates water used for cleaning the ballpark from rainwater falling on the ballpark and treats both sources of water before it is released to sanitary and stormwater systems.

Special care was also given to screening organic debris, i.e. peanut shells, from the stormwater system.

ABOUT LEED

LEED is a rating system that was designed to guide and distinguish high performance buildings that have less of an impact on the environment, are healthier for those who work and/or live in the building, and are more profitable than their conventional counterparts.

It is a performance-oriented rating system where building projects earn points for satisfying criterion designed to address specific environmental impacts inherent in the design, construction, operations and management of a building.

The rating system is organized into five environmental categories: Sustainable Sites, Water Efficiency, Energy and Atmosphere, Materials and Resources, and Indoor Environmental Quality. An additional category, Innovation and Design, awards points to LEED projects that develop new solutions, employ new technologies, educate, or realize exemplary performance in another area.

LEED for New Construction ratings are awarded according to the following scale:

- ★ Certified: 26-32 points
- ★ Silver: 33-38 points
- ★ Gold: 39-51 points
- ★ Platinum: 52-69 points

CONSTRUCTION FACTS

HISTORY OF THE SITE

★ Layers of fill and brick were found 12-14 feet below grade, indicating the probability of road and habitation at this level in the 1800s

EXCAVATION

★ A total of 340,948 cubic yards or 34,095 truckloads of soil was excavated. A typical truck can hold 10 cubic yards or 25,000 pounds of dirt.

★ Approximately 4,500 cubic yards or 450 truckloads of dirt were removed each day

★ There were 185,087 cubic yards of contaminated soil that was cleaned and sent to a landfill

★ Some portions of the excavation required digging below the water table

★ A total of approximately 2,400 piles were driven to 55 foot depth, which equals a total of 25 miles of piling

STEEL

★ The completed ballpark has 3500 pieces of steel in the bowl, equaling 7800 tons

CONCRETE

★ The heaviest pre-cast unit is 55,000 pounds

★ Approximately 58,000 cubic yards of cast-in-place concrete will be used

FIRE PROTECTION

Nationals Park contains the following components:

★ 65,000 feet of pipe

★ 1 fire pump

★ 25 – 30 wet sprinkler systems

★ 6 – 7 dry sprinkler systems

★ 2 pre – action systems

★ 7,000 sprinkler heads

MECHANICAL FACTS

The ballpark encompasses approximately:

★ 9 miles of pipe

★ 600,000 pounds of mechanical ducts

★ 110 plumbing fixtures

ELECTRICAL FACTS

Nationals Park is home to:

★ Over 3 million feet of power wire

★ 714,000 watts of light used, the equivalent of 11,900 60-watt bulbs

★ 180,000 hours of manpower to install electrical systems

★ 14,000 lights

FUN FACTS

Inspiration for the look of the ballpark was taken from the East Wing of the National Gallery of Art, by architect I. M. Pei

HOK Sport borrowed an odd right-angled jog into the right centerfield fence from the now demolished Griffith Stadium, former home of the Washington Senators

More than half of the crowd will walk straight off the street into their seats, without ever climbing elevators, ramps or stairs because the field is 24 feet below street level and the main concourse is the same height as the sidewalk

If you stretched Nationals Park like a slinky into a boomerang curve, it would be a quarter mile long

GREAT MOMENTS AT ROBERT F. KENNEDY MEMORIAL STADIUM

APRIL 9, 1962: District of Columbia Stadium opens for baseball, as the Senators beat the Tigers 4-1 in front of 44,383 fans, behind the five-hit pitching of right-hander Bennie Daniels. Shortstop Bob Johnson goes 3-for-4 and hits the new stadium's first home run.

JULY 10, 1962: D.C. Stadium hosts the season's first All-Star Game (they played two each year between 1959 and 1962). The National League won 3-1 before 45,480 fans, including President Kennedy.

JULY 27, 1962: The Senators notch 20 hits in the second game of a doubleheader against Boston, a 14-1 win. They scored 25 runs on the day, having won the first game 11-2.

JULY 2, 1966: Senators outfielder Don Lock goes 5-for-5 with two doubles and a home run in a 10-4 win over the Yankees.

APRIL 30, 1967: Senators southpaw Barry Moore allows only a sixth inning single to Cesar Tovar, shutting out Minnesota on one hit, 3-0.

JUNE 12, 1967: The Senators battled the White Sox for 22 innings before winning 6-5 on an RBI single by Paul Casanova, who caught the whole game. It was the longest errorless game in Major League history. The game ended at 2:43 am.

MAY 12, 1968: Washington's Frank Howard homers in the sixth and seventh innings of a 6-3 win at home over Detroit. Over the next five games – all on the road – Hondo will hit another eight home runs, for a total of 10 homers over 20 at-bats. He would go on to lead the AL with 44 home runs.

JANUARY 18, 1969: District of Columbia Stadium is renamed Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium to honor the late former Attorney General of the United States who had been assassinated the previous June while campaigning for the Democratic nomination for President.

MAY 2, 1969: A second inning single by Tony Horton is the only Cleveland hit as Dick Bosman shuts out the Indians 5-0. Bosman will go on to win the AL ERA title that year with a mark of 2.19.

JULY 23, 1969: Major League Baseball celebrates its 100th Anniversary and the All-Star Game returns to Washington. Although the NL won 9-3, hometown hero Frank Howard homered for the AL and Senators reliever Darold Knowles retired the only two hitters he faced.

SEPTEMBER 26, 1969: The Senators beat Cleveland 4-1 behind Joe Coleman's complete game. Their 82nd victory of the year guarantees a winning record for Washington for the first time since 1952, when the original franchise went 78-76.

APRIL 5, 1971: In their final home opener at RFK, the Senators shut out Vida Blue and the Oakland A's 8-0 behind Dick Bosman, who scattered six hits. Blue would go on to win his next 10 decisions.

SEPTEMBER 30, 1971: The final regular season AL game is played at RFK Stadium. The Senators come from behind to take a 7-5 lead over the Yankees. However, with two outs in the ninth inning and reliever Joe Grzenda set to pitch to Horace Clarke, the fans poured onto the field. The game could not be completed, and the umpires awarded the Yankees a 9-0 forfeit. Frank Howard hit his 116th and final RFK home run leading off the bottom of the sixth.

APRIL 14, 2005: On September 29, 2004, Baseball Commissioner Bud Selig announced that the Montreal Expos would be moved to Washington, DC in 2005. The Washington Nationals, before a crowd of 45,596, including President Bush, started a new baseball tradition in the Nation's Capital with a 5-3 victory over the Arizona Diamondbacks. Nats' third baseman Vinny Castilla came within a single of hitting for the cycle; he was hit by a pitch in his fourth plate appearance.

GREAT MOMENTS AT ROBERT F. KENNEDY MEMORIAL STADIUM

SEPTEMBER 22, 2005: Five Nationals pitchers combine on a four-hit, 2-0 shutout of the Giants. Chad Cordero picks up his 47th save of the year, tops in the majors.

OCTOBER 2, 2005: Philadelphia beats Washington 9-3 before 36,491 at RFK in the inaugural season finale. Attendance for the year is 2,692,123, shattering all previous Major League attendance records for Washington, DC.

APRIL 21, 2006: Nationals left fielder Alfonso Soriano hits 3 home runs and a double, driving in 5 runs in a 7-3 win over Atlanta. Soriano would finish the year with 46 home runs and 41 stolen bases in his only year with the Nats.

JUNE 18, 2006: Rookie third baseman Ryan Zimmerman stuns the Yankees with a walk-off two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth before 45,157, as the Nats come from behind to beat New York's Chien-Ming Wang 3-2 on Father's Day.

JULY 4, 2006: Ryan Zimmerman hits a walk-off, three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth, giving the Nats a 6-4 win over Florida on Independence Day.

APRIL 4, 2007: First baseman Dmitri Young hits a game-winning RBI single to beat the Florida Marlins 7-6, giving rookie Manager Manny Acta his first major-league win.

MAY 12, 2007: Ryan Zimmerman broke a 3-3 tie with a game-ending grand slam and Washington bested Florida 7-3, in a game that ended at 1:43am thanks to a combined 3 hours and 38 minutes of rain delays.

JULY 4, 2007: Dmitri Young hits a grand slam and Matt Chico pitches 7.0 scoreless innings to lead the Nationals past the Chicago Cubs 6-0. Young's grand slam was the first hit by a Washington-based big leaguer on the Fourth of July since 1945.

SEPTEMBER 24, 2007: In the 1,047th and final game played at RFK Memorial Stadium, outfielder Austin Kearns finished 3-for-4 with 2 RBI to lift the Nationals to a come-from-behind 5-3 win vs. the Philadelphia Phillies.

2008 BLUEPRINT

Season Ticket Donation Program (Ongoing)
In partnership with Most Valuable Kids, a ticket distribution non-profit. Nationals season ticket holders, in conjunction with the ballclub, make access a reality to those often not fortunate enough to attend a Nationals game. Tickets can be submitted to the Community Relations 48-72 hours in advance of the game they wish to donate. On-line transfers can also be made. Last season, over 11,200 tickets were donated by our Washington's season ticket holders.

Complimentary Ticket Program (Ongoing)
The Community Relations group will continue their practice of donating tickets to area non-profits and schools. Please take a look at policies/procedures for requesting complimentary tickets on the Community page of nationals.com.

Washington Nationals School Days
The Nationals have "adopted" Kimball Elementary School, located in Southeast Washington, DC, as part of our commitment to education and our partnership with the District of Columbia Public Schools. The Club has committed to player appearances, as well as to front office employees volunteering their time at the school as part of the school's after-school tutoring and mentoring programs.

Washington Nationals Youth Baseball and Softball Clinics
As part of our efforts to stimulate the growth of youth involvement in baseball and softball programs in the District of Columbia and its surrounding areas, the Washington Nationals will host a series of baseball and softball clinics. Nationals coaches and strength trainers will be on hand to offer young children a real baseball workout and offer pointers on how to improve their game or just understand baseball a little better. Please check nationals.com and click on the Community page for more information.

Monthly Health Awareness Campaigns
Every month the Nationals provide an opportunity for a different health organization to spread their message to our guests. Theodore N. Lerner, along with his wife Annette, his son Mark D. Lerner, daughters Debra Lerner Cohen and Marla Lerner Tanenbaum, his daughter-in-law Judy Lenkin Lerner, and his sons-in-law Edward L. Cohen and Robert K. Tanenbaum are the Principal Owners of the Washington Nationals.

As active participants in the oversight of the franchise, the entire family is involved in the opening of the new ballpark for the Nationals. They have been committed to building a first-class park for Nationals fans in time for all to enjoy by this year's Opening Day. The Lerner family is dedicated to providing a fan-friendly ballpark experience, and is looking forward to building the enthusiastic, competitive team – piece by piece – that the Nation's Capital deserves.

The family is proud of its role as steward of the national pastime in the Nation's Capital. Now, after its first full season of Lerner ownership, the organization is building an exciting and competitive team through trade, draft and player development – improving from 30th among MLB clubs to 9th, according to Baseball America. The Nationals are committed to developing and signing players who hustle for every play and are worthy of fan support. Manny Acta and his exciting young team enter every game ready to win. With the promise of the new ballpark finally a reality, you will see the team developing its long-term plan for success.

Off the field, the family is serious about its obligation to the people and neighborhoods of the Washington area. There is ever-increasing player and owner participation in the community. Over the last year, the Washington Nationals Dream Foundation (WNDF) has continued to expand its reach and has formed new partnerships with well-established programs that seek to improve the lives of children and families in the region. WNDF has committed to, among other projects, building a Washington Nationals Youth Baseball Academy with the District of Columbia Government; and joined with the Children's National Medical Center to create a Pediatric Diabetes Care Facility. These defining programs and others like them are the cornerstones of the family's commitment to the Washington area.

NATIONALS
NATIONALS PARK
The Washington Post
PNC

What an exciting year! Our family and the entire Nationals organization have worked around the clock to make the eagerly anticipated opening of Nationals Park a reality. The fan experience at this state-of-the-art, baseball-only, family-friendly ballpark will be like none DC fans have ever experienced. Their seats will be closer to the game, they will have much better sight-lines, more concession and restaurant options, more entertainment, and more in-game activities. The atmosphere at the new ballpark, within walking distance of the Nation's Capital, will be unlike any other sports venue in the world.

Our 2007 team gave us many rewarding memories. They won more games than the previous year, moved up in the tough National League East Division standings, and gave us some remarkable individual and team performances. After mid-May this club played at near playoff level. The Nationals' efforts in the final days of the season against division leaders certainly showed we know how to compete. Based on trades, acquisition and drafts, Baseball America has moved our organizational ranking up from 30th to 9th. With Manny Acta running the show, fans can continue to expect aggressive, smart, hard-playing performances every single game.

Interest in the National Pastime in the Nation's Capital – with a new monument of a ballpark – should make this club the new must-see team in America. We believe the Nationals, because of our most unique geography and history, could well become America's Home Team. Our location is right, our new ballpark is magnificent, our club management is unmatched, and our on-the-field personnel will only improve. We expect our fans to be the final player in making the Nationals one of the premier franchises not only in baseball, but in all sports.

Our entire family was overjoyed when Major League Baseball chose to return the game to our area and allowed us to be its caretakers. We are extraordinarily honored to be able to offer your family a chance to experience the thrill of hometown baseball. Come be a part of Washington's newest family tradition.

Sincerely,

Theodore N. Lerner

WASHINGTON NATIONALS® 2008 MEDIA GUIDE

EXECUTIVES

STAN KASTEN

PRESIDENT

Stan Kasten was officially introduced as Nationals President on May 3, 2006. His name and reputation are well known throughout the sporting landscape, seemingly no matter one's favorite athletic pastime.

In 1999, Kasten became the first person to hold the title of president of three different teams in three different major sports simultaneously. He accomplished this unique feat with MLB's Atlanta Braves, the NBA's Atlanta Hawks and the NHL's Atlanta Thrashers. At the same time, Kasten also served as TBS Vice President of Sports Teams and Chairman of Philips Arena.

Although his professional career is highlighted by the Braves 1995 World Championship, his Braves and Hawks made a combined 30 post-season appearances and claimed 15 division titles, including 12 straight during the Braves' unprecedented run 1991-2003.

Now, in Washington, Kasten has accepted the challenge of not only re-energizing baseball in the nation's capital, but to establish a crown-jewel franchise in the World's Most Powerful City.

Kasten will rely heavily on Three Pillars—scouting and player development, enhancing the fan experience, and community outreach—to accomplish the goal of establishing a franchise built on long-term success, both on and off the field. To do so, Kasten will draw heavily on experiences gained with the Braves, who were at a similar stage upon his arrival in 1987.

Kasten has been tasked with strengthening a Nationals scouting and player development system which had lagged in recent years.

In the fall of 2006, the Nationals bolstered their scouting department with the addition of 10 scouts. Little more than a year later, the positive momentum gained from these additions is already apparent.

Not only was Washington's 2007 First-Year Draft class rated by industry insider Baseball American as the best in baseball, but in January, BA rated the Nationals minor-league system No. 9 in baseball. This ranking stands in stark contrast to last season, when the Nationals' system was ranked 30th by the same publication. The Nationals' 21-spot ranking leap from 2007 to '08 was the second-largest since BA began its organizational rankings in 2001.

Kasten's leadership and experience—the common thread in the successes of the Atlanta Hawks in the 1980s, the Braves of the 1990s and the Thrashers of the new millennium—also extends to the constructions of state-of-the-art sports venues.

This will serve Kasten—and ultimately baseball fans—well in Washington, as Nationals Park opens its gates in March of 2008.

While in Atlanta, Kasten oversaw the construction of Turner Field as it was sculpted from Atlanta's Olympic Stadium. Kasten also quarterbacked the planning and construction of Philips Arena, the home of the Hawks and Thrashers, and site of the 2003 NBA All-Star and 2008 NHL All-Star games. Atlanta's newest sports venue opened in 1999 and continues to gain accolades for its uniqueness and top-notch fan amenities.

During his tenure with Atlanta, Kasten's Braves included, among others John Smoltz, Chipper

Jones, Andruw Jones, Greg Maddux, Tom Glavine, Terry Pendleton, Deion Sanders, David Justice, Brian Jordan, but it was Kasten's ability to convince then-General Manager Bobby Cox to return to the dugout in a managerial role that sparked the Braves' string of 14 straight division titles, five NL pennants and one World Championship. During baseball's renaissance in Atlanta, the Braves posted more wins than any team in baseball and drew in excess of three million fans on six occasions. Kasten also served baseball as Chairman of the Player Personal Development Committee, and on various committees dealing with labor, realignment and expansion.

In November of 1979, Kasten was named Hawks General Manager, and thus, became the youngest GM in NBA history at the age of 27. Kasten was named Hawks President in 1986, yet remained in the role of GM until 1990. He remains the only person in NBA history to be named by his peers as "Executive of the Year" in consecutive seasons (1986 and '87). Kasten has served on the NBA's marketing committee, the player pension committee and the expansion committee. He is also a former trustee of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

During his career with the Hawks, the team made tremendous strides on the court and at the gate. Over the latter half of the 1980s, the team posted four consecutive 50-win seasons and subsequent playoff berths, and set numerous team records in attendance. In the '90s, the Hawks posted a trio of 50-win seasons en route to seven straight playoff appearances.

In November of 1999, during Atlanta's inaugural NHL season, Kasten was named President and Governor of the Thrashers. His goal was the same as it was with the Braves, to construct a team built for the long haul. The Thrashers have been one of the more successful expansion teams in NHL history. Kasten enjoyed positions on both the NHL's Board of Governors and Executive Committee.

As the Nationals begin to spread their wings internationally, Kasten will lend expertise gained with TBS and the Hawks, the first team to widely draft international players. In the summer of 1988, Kasten's Hawks became the first NBA team to visit the USSR.

Kasten's introduction to pro sports management came as a result of a 1976 meeting at a Braves-Cardinals game with Braves owner Ted Turner, when Kasten was celebrating his law school graduation with a tour of major league ballparks. Soon after, he was appointed legal counsel for the Braves and Hawks, and one year later (1977-78) became the Hawks' Assistant General Manager.

Kasten was born February 1, 1952, in Lakewood, NJ. He attended New York University, where he graduated in 1973 with a degree in psychology, earned magna cum laude honors and was chosen Phi Beta Kappa. He received a Juris Doctor degree from Columbia Law School in 1976. He played in the Jersey Shore Summer Baseball League during his law school years.

Kasten is on the Board of Directors of the Sports Lawyers Association, which awarded him their coveted "Award of Excellence" in May 2000. Stan and his wife, Helen, live in Foggy Bottom and have four children.

BOB WOLFE

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Bob Wolfe enters his third season in Washington after joining the Nationals as Executive Vice President on June 1, 2006. He previously served with the Atlanta Braves and Atlanta Hawks for over 20 years, including over a decade spent as Braves Senior Vice President of Administration (1992-2003).

Ever mindful of franchise's signature moment at hand, the opening of Nationals Park in March of 2008, Wolfe's leadership and experience have helped shape the Nationals' modern-day front office, business practices and ballpark policies.

Wolfe's responsibilities include oversight of the club's various business and administrative areas, including finance, sales and marketing, communications, ticket operations, ballpark operations, community relations, food service operations and human resources.

After working in the Braves' accounting department from 1980-84, Wolfe accepted a post as Hawks business manager in 1985. He was named Vice President / Business Manager of the Hawks in 1988.

Wolfe has served on the board of directors for the Atlanta Hawks Foundation and the Atlanta Braves Foundation, as well as the Atlanta Sports Council and the Atlanta Convention & Visitors Bureau.

Wolfe and his wife, Kelly Koelker, have one daughter, Ellery.

JIM BOWDEN

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT & GENERAL MANAGER

Jim Bowden was appointed interim Vice President and General Manager of the Washington Nationals on November 2, 2004. After the sale of the club, Nationals President Stan Kasten removed the interim title and named Bowden permanent Vice President and General Manager on June 30, 2006. On February 29, 2008, he was promoted to Senior Vice President and General Manager.

Bowden is in the midst of rebuilding the Nationals' on-field organization from the ground up. During this process, he has placed continued emphasis on scouting, player development and the acquisition of young talent wherever it might reside.

Bowden jump started the Nationals' franchise renewal with the selection of third baseman Ryan Zimmerman, the fourth overall selection in the 2005 Draft. Not only Zimmerman was a big leaguer less than three months after the draft, he finished second in 2006 NL Rookie of the Year balloting and has tallied 201 RBI the last two seasons. He does not turn 24 until the end of the 2008 season.

With the stated goal to construct baseball's best scouting department, Bowden focused long and hard on strengthening the Nationals' scouting system. His first step was to recruit to Washington 11 of the best talent-evaluating scouts baseball had to offer.

Eight months later, the result came in arguably the most unique draft room in baseball history, as Bowden created a think-tank where differing opinions were encouraged, but the end goal remained to secure the best talent available. Mission accomplished, as industry-insider Baseball America rated the Nationals' 2007 Draft haul as the "best in baseball" in its November 5-18 issue.

In three-plus years in DC, Bowden has procured 17 of the Nationals' top 20 prospects, as rated by Baseball America, entering the 2008 season, including first baseman outfielder Chris Marrero (2006), Michael Burgess (2007), left-handed pitcher Ross Detwiler (2007), left-handed pitcher Josh Smoker (2007), right-handed pitcher Colton Willems (2006) and left-handed pitcher Jack McGeary (2006).

The Nationals' organizational growth spurt has not gone unnoticed. According to Baseball America Editor in Chief John Manuel, Bowden's efforts toward organization building "should be commended especially for the team's 2007 draft class, because he brought in strong personalities and strong talent evaluators to the organization and got them to work together for the common goal of restocking the farm system, and the early returns on the '07 draft class indicate that mission was accomplished."

With the backing of Mr. Kasten and Lerner Family, Bowden has made a flury of trades to acquire young talent. Since August of 2007, Bowden has acquired a trio of athletic outfielders with plus power—Wily Mo Pena (26 years-old), Lasting Milledge (23) and Elijah Dukes (23)—to reinvent the Nationals' outfield. The trio will work with right fielder Austin Kearns, who Bowden acquired on July 13, 2006 by brokering an eight-player trade with Cincinnati. Kearns later committed to the franchise, and the city of Washington, by inking a three-year contract with a club option through 2010.

Bowden (pronounced "BOE-den") made history on October 16, 1992, when, at age 31, he became the youngest General Manager of a Major League Baseball franchise. Three years later, he became the youngest GM in baseball history to lead his club, the Cincinnati Reds, to the League Championship Series. Bowden continued to serve as General Manager of the Reds through July 28, 2003.

Following the 1999 season, during which the Reds won more games (96) than they had since 1976, Bowden was named "Executive of the Year" by Baseball America, as well as the Boston chapter of the BBWAA, Mike Mittleman of Stats, Inc., and the Touchdown Club of Columbus. Additionally, Bowden was named the National League's "Executive of the Year" by national baseball writer Jon Heyman of Newsday.

In 1984, Bowden began his baseball career with the Pittsburgh Pirates prior to moving on to the New York Yankees for one season (1989) as Assistant to the Senior Vice President of Baseball Operations. In December 1989, Bowden joined the Reds as an assistant in Player Development and Scouting. Subsequently, he was promoted to Director of Player Development before being named General Manager of the Reds in the fall of 1992. After being named General Manager, Bowden also temporarily assumed the duties of Team President and CEO during Managing Partner Marge Schott's absence from the club.

A native of Weston, MA, and Boothbay Harbor, ME, Bowden was born on May 18, 1961. A 1979 graduate of Weston High School, Bowden received a bachelor's degree in business administration/communications from Rollins College in Florida in 1983.

Engaged to actress Joy Jolise, Bowden has five sons: J.B. (March 10, 1987), Tyler (July 7, 1991), Chad (February 17, 1994), as well as identical twins Trey and Chase (October 20, 1998). He also has one granddaughter, Julia (July 14, 2006).

MIKE RIZZO

ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER & VICE PRESIDENT OF BASEBALL OPERATIONS

Mike Rizzo was appointed Nationals Assistant General Manager and Vice President of Baseball Operations on July 24, 2006. Rizzo's hiring was the first significant addition made by the organization after the Lerner Family officially took control of the Nationals the same day. Rizzo's arrival in DC continued the Nationals' scouting momentum gained in both international and domestic scouting circles.

In his current role, Mike assists Vice President and General Manager Jim Bowden in all facets of baseball operation, including but not limited to player acquisitions, contract negotiations, arbitration preparation and player evaluations. He also oversees Washington's Major League, Professional and International scouting activities. Rizzo's expertise and relationship-building have breathed new life into the Nationals' Pacific Rim efforts.

The initial returns have been spectacular, as the Nationals' 2007 First-Year Player Draft—Rizzo's first with the organization—was rated as the best in baseball by Baseball America.

Rizzo joined the Nationals after spending the previous seven seasons with the Arizona Diamondbacks, primarily as Director of Scouting. Following the 2005 campaign, when eight Diamondback players were honored with individual awards and/or designations to their leagues' All-Star teams, Rizzo was promoted, earning the title of Vice President of Scouting Operations after the Diamondbacks were named Topps' Organization of the Year.

In 2001, upon being named Arizona's Director of Scouting, the Diamondbacks' minor-league system ranked 29th in baseball according to Baseball America. Five highly successful drafts and a few hundred thousand miles traveled later, Arizona's system was ranked No. 1 in baseball by the same publication entering the 2006 season.

Rizzo earned a World Series ring with Arizona in 2001, but the fruits of his labor not end there for the Diamondbacks. Brandon Webb (2006 Cy Young Award winner), Chad Tracy, Justin Upton, Stephen Drew, Dan Uggla, Micah Owings, Tony Pena, Mark Reynolds, Conor Jackson, Miguel Montero and Chris Snyder are among the numerous current big leaguers drafted by Arizona under Rizzo's watch. While with the White Sox, Rizzo inked future two-time American League MVP Frank Thomas.

Rizzo, who is entering his 26th season of pro ball, joined the Diamondbacks for their inaugural 1998 campaign after enjoying stints with the Boston Red Sox (area supervisor, international scout and major league advance scout) and Chicago White Sox (Midwest and Southeast territorial scout).

Raised in Chicago, IL, Rizzo spent four seasons as a minor league player in the Angels organization before retiring and beginning a coaching career at the University of Illinois, where he served as an assistant coach while earning a Bachelor of Arts in Communications.

BOB BOONE

ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER & VICE PRESIDENT, PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Bob Boone joined the Nationals upon being appointed by Jim Bowden as Special Assistant to the General Manager on December 11, 2004. He shifted into his current role as Assistant General Manager & Vice President, Player Development during the 2006 season.

From his first day with the Nationals, Boone has worked closely with Bowden and been involved in every aspect of the Nationals' baseball operation. He played an extremely vital role in all big league evaluations, both internal and external, and helped "recruit" a new wave of player-development talent to join the Nationals' scouting and coaching ranks.

Among those to join the Nationals after listening to Boone's pitch: Special Assistant to the GM Moose Stubing, Triple-A Manager Tim Foli, Double-A Harrisburg manager John Stearns, minor-league hitting coordinator Ralph Dickenson and Director of Player Development Bobby Williams. Boone's presence helped the Nationals Sign Player Development Contracts with Columbus of the Triple-A International League and Hagerstown of the Single-A South Atlantic League following the 2006 campaign, thus tightening Washington's player-development footprint.

Boone also spent considerable time and energy scouting amateur talent, specifically in preparation for the 2005 First-Year Player Draft, which netted University of Virginia third baseman Ryan Zimmerman and outfield prospect Justin Maxwell.

Boone joined Washington after spending the 2004 campaign with Philadelphia as a Special Assignment Scout, a position he accepted on December 3, 2003 after a 22-year hiatus from the Phillies organization.

One of the premier catchers of his generation, Bob was named to four All-Star teams (1976, 78-79, 83) and won seven Rawlings Gold Gloves (1978-79, 82, 86-89), including two at ages 40 and 41, during his 19-year career. Only Ivan Rodriguez (13) and Johnny Bench (10) have won more Gold Gloves for catching.

Selected by the Phillies in the sixth round of the 1969 draft as a third baseman out of Stanford University—where he graduated with a degree in psychology—Boone spent the first ten years of his major league career with Philadelphia (1972-81), which won four division titles and one World Series Championship in 1980.

Following his tenure with the Phillies, Boone played for Anaheim (1982-88) and Kansas City (1989-90). Upon retirement, Boone held the major league record for games caught in a career (2225), a record which was later broken by Carlton Fisk, and most seasons catching at least 100 games (15).

In October of 1994, Boone was named manager of the Kansas City Royals, a position he held until July of 1997. Following tenure with Kansas City, Boone joined Cincinnati as a special assistant under (then) GM Jim Bowden before being named manager of the Reds in November 2000. He held that position until July of 2003.

Bob was born on November 19, 1947 in San Diego, CA and resides in Villa Park, CA with his wife, Sue. Two of their sons played major league baseball and achieved All-Star status: Bret (three-time All-Star, retired) and Aaron (2003 NL All-Star, currently with Washington). His father, the late Ray Boone, was an All-Star infielder during his 13-year career in the big leagues (1948-60). Bob's brother, Rodney, played in the Kansas City and Houston farm systems from 1972-75. The Boones are one of only three 3-generation baseball families, along with the Bells (Gus, Buddy and David) and the Hairstons (Sam, Jerry Sr. and Jerry Jr.).

SQUIRE GALBREATH

ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER, BASEBALL ADMINISTRATION

Galbreath enters his fourth season with the Nationals, his first full campaign as Assistant General Manager, Baseball Administration. Galbreath initially joined the Nationals as Special Advisor to the General Manager in late 2004.

Galbreath's primary duties include, but are not limited to, overseeing all financial matters and budgets pertaining to baseball operations.

In the last 12 months, Galbreath has assisted in brokering deals that helped establish the Nationals in international baseball circles, most notably in the Far East and in Mexico. In February of 2007, Galbreath announced that the Nationals had signed their first working agreement with an international club, the Tabasco Olmecas of the Mexican Summer League. Galbreath also played a vital role as the Nationals courted, and ultimately signed a Player Development Contract with, the Columbus Clippers of the Triple-A International League in September of 2006.

The working agreements with Tabasco and Columbus are consistent with the original task Galbreath inherited in DC, namely to improve and enhance the Nationals' baseball operation by way of long-range forecasting and strategies. In addition to his financial duties as it pertains to baseball operations, Galbreath also assists in various special projects, sabermetrics and other forms of baseball analysis.

In addition to owning a minority stake in and working for the Nationals, Squire is Managing Partner of Darby Dan Farm, a 3,000 acre farm in Columbus, OH. He was President of the Florida region for The Galbreath Company, a 75 year-old family owned international commercial real estate company, for five years.

Galbreath is a third generation member of the Galbreath family involved in baseball; former owners of the Pittsburgh Pirates for 39 years, having won the World Series in 1960, 1971 and 1979. His grandfather, John W. Galbreath—once described as a "world-class builder, sportsman and philanthropist" by the Columbus Dispatch—is the only person to win a World Series and a Kentucky Derby.

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Galbreath received a bachelor's degree in business administration/communications from Rollins College in Florida in 1983 before earning his masters in business administration from Duke University in 1988. Galbreath and his wife, Alison, have four children: Caroline (March 10, 1997), John III (October 9, 1998), Charlotte (January 11, 2000) and William (April 16, 2001).

JOSE RIJO

SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO THE GENERAL MANAGER

Jose Rijo was appointed by Jim Bowden as Special Assistant to the General Manager on January 5, 2005. Rijo brokers much of Washington's Latin American operations, specifically pertaining to scouting and player development in his native Dominican Republic. Rijo is chief administrator of the Nationals' Dominican Academy in San Cristobal. He will also serves as a special on-field instructor during Spring Training and completes various on-field projects deemed necessary by Bowden.

Rijo began his post-playing career as a scout/instructor with Cincinnati, as he was hired by (then Reds GM) Bowden in 2003 to scout his native Dominican Republic and administrate the Reds' academy in the Dominican Republic.

During his playing days, Rijo went 116-91 with a 3.24 ERA in 14 major league seasons with New York-AL (1984), Oakland (1985-87) and Cincinnati (1988-2002).

Rijo made his big league debut with the Yankees in 1984 as a hard-throwing phenom. He was just 19 and the youngest player in baseball. Two eye-catching trades later—deals that included Rickey Henderson and Dave Parker, among others—Rijo landed in Cincinnati, where he would win 97 games and help the Reds claim, in 1990, their first World Championship since 1976.

A 1994 National League All-Star, Rijo went 3-0 with a 2.28 ERA in four post-season starts for the 1990 World Champion Cincinnati Reds. In the World Series, Rijo went 2-0 with a 0.59 (1 ER/15.1 IP) in two starts and was named Most Valuable Player as Cincinnati stunned the baseball world by sweeping the heavily-favored Oakland Athletics.

In four seasons from 1990-93, Rijo won 58 games for the Reds and twice finished among the top five in National League Cy Young voting (fourth in 1991, fifth in 1993). He won a career-high 15 games in both 1991 and 1992. With a 15-6 record in 1991, Rijo led the National League in winning percentage. Two years later, in 1993, he paced the NL in strikeouts (227) and finished 2nd in the league's ERA (2.48) chase.

Rijo's playing career appeared to be over in 1995, at the age of 30, due to chronic elbow problems. However, thanks to six elbow surgeries, including three "Tommy John" procedures, and an unheard of amount of perseverance, Rijo returned to the mound six year later in 2001. He pitched two more seasons for Cincinnati before retiring at the completion of the 2002 campaign.

Rijo was elected into the Cincinnati Reds Hall of Fame during on June 11, 2005 along with former teammate center fielder Eric Davis.

Rijo is single and resides in San Cristobal, DR.

BARRY LARKIN

SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO THE GENERAL MANAGER

Larkin was named Nationals Special Assistant to the General Manager on February 13, 2005, thus ending a legendary 19-year playing career spent with one team, his hometown Cincinnati Reds. He accepted a front-office position under Jim Bowden to gain a broad-working knowledge of every facet of Washington's baseball operation, including but not limited to player development and scouting (pro and amateur).

Mission accomplished, as Larkin did just that and more in first two seasons with Washington. Listed among Larkin's highlights with the Nationals are on-field tutorials with various infielders/hitters and participation in consensus built prior to drafting of third baseman Ryan Zimmerman with fourth overall selection in First-Year Player Draft. Larkin also helped the Nationals evaluate their own, both in the big leagues and in the minors. He has since worked extensively with Zimmerman on his defense, with particular attention paid to the footwork associated with playing the hot corner at a Gold Glove level.

In conjunction with Major League Baseball and Jim Lefebvre, Larkin is currently working on development and training with the Chinese National Baseball Team in preparation for the 2008 Olympic Summer Games, which China will host in September.

At the time of his appointment/retirement, Larkin's tenure with the Reds was baseball's longest streak among active players having played with just one club.

Born in Cincinnati and a 1982 graduate of Moeller High School, Larkin hit .295 (2340-for-7937) with 441 doubles, 76 triples, 198 home runs, 960 RBI and 379 stolen bases in 2,180 games spanning 19 seasons with Cincinnati. Larkin's 19-year tenure with the Reds matched Pete Rose and Dave Concepcion as the longest in the annals of baseball's oldest franchise.

A 12-time National League All-Star, Larkin served as Reds' captain from 1997-2004. He was named MVP of the Reds on four occasions, including 1990, when Cincinnati won the National League West wire-to-wire en route to a World Series sweep of the heavily-favored Oakland Athletics. Larkin batted .300 during the Reds' 1990 post-season run, including a .353 mark in the Fall Classic. However, Larkin's extended offensive excellence is best represented by his nine Louisville Silver Slugger Awards.

In 1995, Larkin was named National League Most Valuable Player, becoming the Reds' first MVP since George Foster won the same award in 1977. He garnered the citation by hitting .319 with 29 doubles, 15 home runs, 66 RBI and 51 stolen bases while leading the Reds to a National League Central Division title.

Larkin followed up his '95 MVP season with an even better effort the following year. In 1996, Larkin hit 33 home runs and swiped 36 bases to become the first shortstop in major league history—and only the second non-outfielder—to post 30-or-more home runs and 30-or-more stolen bases in the same season.

Larkin left the Reds ranked among the franchise's top five in numerous categories, including games (third), hits (second), total bases (third with 3,527), doubles (second), runs (second with 1,329), extra-base hits (third with 715).

In the field, Larkin's rare combination of arm strength and range resulted in three Rawlings Gold Gloves (1994-96) and the admiration of a generation of shortstops.

Off the field, Larkin's 19-year tenure was filled with tireless efforts in the Cincinnati community. In 1993 Larkin received the Reds' Roberto Clemente Award for performances both on and off the field. He was also twice a finalist for Major League Baseball's Branch Rickey Award. For years, Barry hosted underprivileged children at Reds games as part of his "Barry's Bunch" program. Barry also founded Caring Team of Athletes, Inc., a national organization of professional athletes that raises money for various children's charities.

MOOSE STUBING

SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO THE GENERAL MANAGER

Stubing was appointed Nationals Special Assistant to the General Manager on November 7, 2006 after spend the previous 40 years with the Los Angeles Angels as a player, coach, big league manager and scout. During his distinguished career as a scout, Stubing performed at a high level in nearly every conceivable capacity.

His vast experience in talent evaluation helped build a foundation that resulted in the Angels' 2002 World Championship. In 1996, Stubing was the inaugural recipient of the Nick Kamzic Award, which is given annually to the Angels scout who epitomizes the dedication, perseverance, and excellence demonstrated by the award's namesake (Kamzic was Gene Autry's first hire with the Angels and ultimately scouted 39 seasons with the organization).

A long-time manager at the minor-league level, in 1984, Stubing's Edmonton Trappers became the first team from Canada to win a Pacific Coast League title. In 1988, Stubing managed the Angels for the season's final eight contets after skipper Cookie Rojas was fired.

Stubing, a first baseman by trade, began his playing career in 1956 played for the 1967 California Angels. He also spent time in the minor leagues with Pittsburgh, New York Giants, San Francisco, St. Louis and California.

ROBERT McDONALD

DIRECTOR, TEAM TRAVEL

McDonald begins seventh season with the Nationals' organization as the Director of Team Travel. Following a trying 2003 season, which featured the Expos' first-ever 22-game slate in Puerto Rico, McDonald was voted by his peers as the recipient of the Don Davidson Memorial Award as MLB's traveling secretary of the year. Prior to joining the Expos, he served three years (1999-01) with the Marlins as Baseball Operations Assistant. In the fall of 1998, McDonald served as the Operations Manager for the Sun Cities Solar Sox of the Arizona Fall League. In 1998, during Arizona's inaugural NL season, he worked with the Diamondbacks' Major League Coaching Staff during spring training and the Marketing Department during the regular season. After attending Northern Illinois University on a football scholarship, McDonald later earned his Bachelor's Degree in Political Science from the University of Arizona. McDonald is single and resides in Washington, DC.

DANA BROWN

DIRECTOR, SCOUTING

Brown, 40, was promoted to Expos Director of Scouting on March 7, 2002 after working with the Pittsburgh organization for eight years as area scouting supervisor and East Coast scouting coordinator.

Under Brown's watch, the Nationals franchise regained its touch in the first round of the draft by tabbing Chad Cordero (2003, 20th overall out of Cal-State Fullerton), Bill Bray (2004, 12th overall out of William & Mary), Ryan Zimmerman (2005, fourth overall out of the University of Virginia) in recent years, Chris Marrero (2006, 15th overall out of Monsignor Pace High School) and Ross Detwiler (2007, sixth overall out of Missouri State).

All five players paid nearly instant dividends for the franchise, as Cordero, Zimmerman and Detwiler made big league debuts less than three months after ending their college careers, and Bray was an essential cog in the Nationals' acquisition of Austin Kearns, Felipe Lopez and Ryan Wagner from Cincinnati as part of an eight-player mega trade in July 2006.

Both Marrero and Detwiler are currently rated by industry insider Baseball America as the Nationals' top two prospects. In 2007, as a member of Jim Bowden's unique draft brain trust, Brown's opinions and evaluations played a significant role as the Nationals' draft haul was rated by BA as the "best in baseball."

Brown's recent efforts, especially since the Lerner Family purchased the Nationals in May of 2006, have not gone unnoticed, as 17 of the Nationals' top 20 prospects—per BA's rankings entering 2008—have joined the organization since baseball returned to The District in 2005. It is no surprise that BA now ranks the Nationals' organization among the top 10 in baseball in terms of organizational minor-league talent.

A graduate of Seton Hall University, Brown played with Pirate teammates Craig Biggio, Mo Vaughn and John Valentin in 1987 prior to being drafted by Philadelphia in 1989 as an outfielder. On February 21, 2008, Brown was inducted into SHU's Athletic Hall of Fame.

He played three pro seasons in the Phillies' chain before enjoying a two-year stint as a minor-league coach. Brown began his scouting career in 1994. Dana and wife, Casandra Waters, have 2 children—Dana Jr. and Autumn—and live in Franklin Park, NJ.

RANDY ST. CLAIRE

PITCHING COACH
BORN: 8/23/60, Glenn Falls, New York
POSITION AS A PLAYER: RHP

ST. CLAIRE RESUME

The NL East's longest tenured pitching coach returns for 6th season as Nationals pitching coach...was named Expos pitching coach on December 4, 2002...replaced Dick Pole...since arrival, has nurtured the talents of Luis Ayala, Chad Cordero, Shawn Hill, John Patterson and Jon Rauch, among others...the entire back end of the Nationals' '05 bullpen participated in the inaugural World Baseball Classic (Cordero and Majewski with Team USA, Ayala with Mexico).

COACHING CAREER

Despite entering Spring Training '07 with only one starting spot solidified (John Patterson, who made just 7 starts), pieced together remarkable effort as the Nationals' 4.58 ERA ranked 10th in NL...again, strength of staff came from bullpen (3.81 'pen ERA ranked 4th in MLB)...season's efforts were highlighted by performances of 20-somethings Shawn Hill (3.42 ERA and 11 quality starts in 16 assignments), Matt Chico (7 wins led all Nationals starters), Jason Bergmann (.231 batting average against would have ranked 6th in the NL with enough innings) and Jon Rauch (33 holds tied for 3rd in MLB)... worked with 9 rookie pitchers...13 starting pitchers tied for 3rd in MLB behind only TEX (15) and NYY (14).

Despite struggles of pitching staff, cemented status as one of MLB's top pitching practitioners in 2006...worked with a franchise single-season record 29 pitchers (12 starters)...staff ace John Patterson made only 8 starts due to injury...saddled with MLB's worst defense...connected with Jon Rauch (18 holds, .231 batting average against).

In 2005, staked claim to be rated among MLB's best pitching coaches battled attrition, as 25 pitchers toed the rubber for Washington (15 starters)...staff helped the club go 81-81, thus winning 14 more games than the season prior...Washington's 2.95 bullpen ERA after the All-Star break paced the NL among 'pens...for 3rd straight year, Livan Hernandez led the NL in innings (246.1)...John Patterson posted long-awaited break-out season (9-7, 3.13 ERA, 31 starts).

In 2004, staff performed at high level despite significant injuries to 4 of 5 starting pitchers (Tony Armas Jr., Zach Day, Tomo Ohka and John Patterson)...despite tough luck and the employment of 22 pitchers (12 starters), Expos posted a 4.33 team ERA...broke in 4 rookie pitchers (Chad Bentz, Shawn Hill, Joe Horgan and Gary Majewski)...Hernandez led MLB in innings (255.0) and tied for the lead in starts (35)...Chad Cordero's 14 saves established a new franchise rookie record...in 2003 debut as pitching coach, staff performed at a high level despite employing 25 different pitchers...lost 4 projected starting pitchers to injury for extended periods, including Orlando Hernandez (did not pitch in 2003) and Tony Armas Jr. (made only 5 starts)...St. Claire's starting staff ranked 4th in MLB—3rd in the NL—with a 3.82 ERA...his starters also led the NL with 15 complete games (only OAK, with 16, recorded more in MLB)...helped Livan Hernandez, who accounted for 8 of Montreal's aforementioned 15 complete games, regain top form...Hernandez led the Expos in wins, innings, complete games, and ERA among pitchers making 20 or more starts...in the bullpen, nurtured the development of Rocky Biddle (team-high 34 saves)...staff also walked the fewest batters (463) in the NL.

St. Claire made his big league pitching coach debut in 2003 after 7 seasons in the minor leagues, including 5 years in the Expos' chain...advanced as far as Triple-A Ottawa in 2002...signed on to be TOR's Triple-A pitching coach for 2003 before getting the call from the Expos to join their big league staff...began coaching career with the Brewers' Single-A Stockton entry from 1996-97...joined the Expos organization in 1998 as Single-A Cape Fear's pitching coach...became the 10th former Expo to return to the organization as a coach...the first 9: Brad Mills, Bob Natal, Claude Raymond, Pete Mackanin, Joe Kerrigan, Jerry Manuel, Felipe Alou, Ken Macha and Bob Gebhard.

CAREER

In 13th pro season, returns for 3rd straight Spring Camp with the Nationals...allowed Barry Bonds' record-setting 756th home run and became a part of American history with score tied 4-4, the bags empty and one out in the 5th, 86 mph fastball was taken deep by Bonds to left-center field on a 3-2 offering at 8:51pm...joined the likes of Al Downing and Ralph Terry in baseball lore...was the 445th different pitcher to surrender a homer to Bonds...after Bonds left the game in the 6th, offered congratulations to the new Home Run King in SFG's clubhouse...Bonds reciprocated with an autographed bat...son of former big league pitcher Mike Bacsik (8-6, 4.43 ERA in 5 MLB seasons with TEX [1975-77] and MIN [1978-79])...with 3-start stint with TEX in '04, Mike and father became the Rangers' first father-son combo.

In 29 games (20 starts) with Washington, enjoyed most extensive big league action...had contract selected from Triple-A Columbus, May 19...allowed 3 earned runs or less in 12 of 20 starts, during which Washington went 9-11...was 5-8 with a 5.57 ERA as a starter, 0-0 with a 0.79 ERA as a reliever...ranked 3rd among Nationals with 20 starts and 118.0 innings...was touched for Barry Bonds' record-breaking 756th career homer, August 7 at SFG, but did not garner a decision in the Nationals' eventual 8-6 win...left in line for the loss, but was let off the hook via a Felipe Lopez RBI double in the 8th which highlighted a 4-run Washington uprising that rendered an eventual 8-6 victory.

Game-By-Game Highlights: Tossed 6.0 scoreless innings in his Nationals debut May 19 vs. BAL, but did not figure in the decision...worked 6.2 scoreless innings to garner the win in a 3-0 victory, July 21 vs. COL.

In Minor Leagues: Began '07 in Columbus' bullpen...after 4 appearances, switched to the starting rotation at the end of April...made 5 starts before being promoted to Washington...allowed only one run in 10.1 innings as a reliever.

2004

Missed entire season after having a pair of left-knee surgeries...had off-season surgery on left knee after tearing the anterior cruciate ligament playing in pick-up basketball game in January in Newport Beach, CA... surgery was performed on February 16 by Dr. Lewis Yocum in Anaheim, CA...at the time of the injury, was member of NYY's 40-man roster...was officially released by NYY on March 1...signed a free agent big league contract with CLE, June 26... joined CLE on 11-game road trip in July and began experiencing pain and swelling in the surgically repaired knee... underwent a 2nd procedure on August 20 to remove loose bodies and promote cartilage growth in the left knee joint... that surgery was performed by Dr. Richard Steadman and Dr. Mark Schickendantz in Vail, CO.

SAM RICE'S DYSLEXIC DEBUT

Sam Rice, Hall of Fame class of '63 (one of 3 players to don a Washington cap in the HOF), has the most hits in big league history (2,987) without being a member of the exclusive 3,000-hit club (of which there are currently 27 members). However, Rice's big league debut strangely came as a pitcher. On August 7, 1915 vs. CWS, Rice pitched out of the bullpen. In the same game, teammate and fellow future Hall-of-Famer Walter Johnson started in right field for the Senators due to an injury.

Rice pitched much of his first 2 AL seasons before shifting to the outfield, where he completed his stellar career as a .302 hitter with 1078 RBI in 20 seasons (19 with Washington, one with CLE). In baseball lore, he is perhaps best known for a controversial play in the 1925 World Series, a series ultimately claimed by the Pirates in 7 games.

In one of the most famous plays in World Series history, Rice fell into the stands in Game 3, seemingly robbing PIT's Earl Smith of a home run. With he and the ball out of view in the crowded stands, the umpire could not tell if Rice had held on to the ball. Rice emerged with the ball safely in his glove and Smith was called out, prompting an argument by PIT's bench. Rice was cryptic about the play, guarding the details of what happened in the stands as if he enjoyed the intrigue. Several years later, prompted by the Hall of Fame, Rice penned a letter explaining the incident, asking that it not be opened until after his death. In part, it read: "At no time did I lose possession of the ball." Sam Rice had kept the information of his most famous play a secret all those years.

NICK JOHNSON • 1B

Among players appearing in at least 250 games in 2005 and '06, posted the 5th-highest on-base percentage in MLB at .419...in the same 2-year stretch, only STL's Albert Pujols (.430), NYY's Jason Giambi (.426), COL's Todd Helton (.424) and CLE's Travis Hafner (.423) have posted superior OBP totals...has been vastly superior against left-handed pitchers (.295) during career as opposed to against righthanders (.264), however, only 13 of 76 career long balls have come against southpaws...led the Nationals in batting in both '05 and '06...thus, became the first franchise player to lead the club in batting in consecutive seasons since Vlad Guerrero ('02-03)...had endured a DL stint each of first 7 seasons...teammates with SS Cristian Guzman on 1996 GCL Yankees championship club.

2007

Worked in conjuction with Nationals doctors, training staff, as well as strength and conditioning staff on intense rehab program constructed to overcome affects of fracured right femur, sustained on September 23 at NYM...had 2 subsequent surgeries in 2007 to remove hardware...on January 16, had a distal screw removed in a procedure performed by Dr. Richard Marder...on August 21, had final hardware removal performed by Dr. David Lewellen at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, MN...began taking batting practice on July 31.

2006

After signing 3-year contract extension (that runs through 2009 season), quietly turned in one of the best offensive seasons in the NL...seemed destined to complete first injury-free campaign, but suffered fractured right femur on a freak collision with RF Austin Kearns in the 8th inning on September 23 at NYM (came on a David Wright popup in "no man's land")...had successful surgery performed by Dr. Peter Dzenis and Nationals orthopedist Dr. Ben Shaffer that night at Queens Hospital New York...is expected to be ready for '07 Spring Training according to Dr. Shaffer... regardless, did not make a trip to the DL for the first time in career...hit .290 (145-for-500) with 46 doubles, 23 home runs, 77 RBI, 11 stolen bases and 110 walks in 147 games...posted career highs in both on-base (.428) and slugging (.520) percentages...posted career highs in virtually every offensive category...ranked among NL leaders in doubles (tied for 7th), walks (tied for 3rd), IBB (tied for 7th with 15), on-base percentage (4th), OPS (8th at .948) and HBP (tied for 10th with 13)...lived up to "patient hitter" label by ranking 2nd in NL having seen 4.28 pitches per plate appearance... led the NL by earning a walk once every 5.71 plate appearances...ranked 3rd in MLB having taken 64.9 percent of pitches seen...took 1746 pitches in all to rank 4th in MLB...recorded 2nd-best single-season on-base percentage (.428) in franchise annals (Tim Raines posted a .429 OBP in 1987)...the .428 OBP was the best posted by a franchise left-handed batter...joined SFG's Barry Bonds, SDP's Brian Giles and HOU's Morgan Ensberg as the only 4 players to walk 100 or more times in 2006, yet not record 100 or more strikeouts...'06 totals also rank among franchise's single-season top 10 in doubles (tied for 4th), walks (tied for 5th) and OPS (9th)...with 100 runs scored, combined with Alfonso Soriano to become the 5th set of franchise teammates to score 100 or more runs (first since Vlad Guerrero and Jose Vidro in 2002)...for first time in career, played in vast majority of games (147)...batted .306 with 39 RBI at RFK...10 homers at RFK tied Ryan Zimmerman for 2nd on club behind Alfonso Soriano (24)...since the Nationals moved to Washington prior to the 2005 season, 17 home runs at RFK rank 2nd behind only Soriano's 24...batted above .300 in April (.341), June (.318) and September/October (.304)...at .304 (43-for-142), batted above .300 against opposing left-handed pitchers for a 3rd straight season...5 home runs against left-handed pitchers were a single-season career high (as were 18 long balls against opposing righthanders)...hit cleanup for Frank Robinson 112 times...finished 7-for-19 (.368) with one walk with the bases loaded...46 doubles and 110 walks established franchise single-season records for a first baseman...struggled with the glove, posting a career-high 15 errors (or one more than his total the previous 3 seasons) to lead all MLB first basemen...when in the starting lineup, Washington went 63-80 (.441).

THE JOY OF '06

CAREER

The reigning Nationals' Minor League Pitcher of the Year looks to build on 2007 campaign...a left-handed pitcher has claimed this citation 4 times in the last 5 years (Mike Hinckley in 2003 and '04, Mike O'Connor in 2005)...began dream season in Single-A and 3 stops later, made 6 starts for the Nationals in big league debut...became the 2nd member of the Nationals' initial 2005 draft to reach the big leagues (3B Ryan Zimmerman was the first).

In just 3rd season as a pro, was named Nationals Minor League Pitcher of the Year...pitched beyond years in 6 starts with the Nationals after beginning '07 with Potomac of the Single-A Carolina League...before winning an organizational-best 14 games at 4 levels in '07, had won 9 games in 2 pro seasons...went 2-2 with a 4.15 ERA in 6 starts in major league debut after having contract selected by the Nationals on July 26...recalled earlier in the morning, made big league debut on July 26 at PHI...did not get a decision, allowing 5 runs (4 earned) on 6 hits in 4.1 innings in game eventually won by Washington, 7-6…walked 2 and fanned one (Ryan Howard for first MLB strikeout) before becoming just the 5th player in MLB history to be ejected in a Major League debut...was joined on this list by CIN's Aaron Boone (June 20, 1997 for throwing helmet after being thrown out at home plate on single), OAK's Doug Johns (July 8, 1995 for throwing at a batter), MIL's Sid Roberson (May 20, 1995 for throwing at a batter after a warning) and PHI's Andy Carter (May 3, 1994 for hitting 2 of 3 batters faced)…was ejected by HP-umpire Hunter Wendelstedt after hitting Howard in the 5th (one offering after hitting Chase Utley with a pitch)…the ejection was heavily scrutinized, however, as it came with the Nationals trailing by only one run and, per Washington's contention, was simply due to a case of wildness (was ahead in the count, 0-2, to Utley)…Wendelstedt informed the Nationals that he was throwing at Howard, who had homered in his previous plate appearance…pitched well and received substantial run support to grab first big league win in a 7-2 victory, August 1 vs. CIN...went 5.2 innings, allowing 2 runs on 5 hits...walked 2, fanned one...was optioned to Columbus on August 26...completed '07 in good health, but wasn't promoted in September as the Nationals had concerns about mounting innings in 2nd complete pro season.

Game-By-Game Highlights: Tossed a season-high 7.0 innings of one-run ball on 2 occasions, August 6 at San Francisco (no-decision) and August 11 at Arizona (loss)...in August 6 start at SFG, with the nation watching Barry Bonds' bid to hit career homer No. 756, retired Bonds 3 times (popout, GIDP, K) and walked him once...pitched well in 4th start, August 11 at ARI, allowing one run on 4 hits in 7.0 innings, but took the loss...was out dueled by defending Cy Young Award-winner Brandon Webb, who went the distance in ARI's 1-0 win...recorded first career road win, thanks in part to Washington's 5-run first-inning barrage, in a 7-6 victory at HOU.

One of MLB's undisputed young star attractions...finished 2nd in 2006 Rookie of the Year voting...finished just 4 points behind FLA's Hanley Ramirez in voting conducted by the BBWAA...was the 2nd player, the first position player, from the 2005 First-Year Player Draft to reach the big leagues (ATL RHP Joey Devine—27th overall—was first)...was the 2nd of 2 Virginians to be selected in the first 4 picks of the 2005 First-Year Player Draft (SS Justin Upton from Great Bridge, VA was taken by ARI with the draft's first overall selection)...baseball experience expands far beyond the college level, as he was named MVP at the FIFU II World University Games, played during the summer of 2004 in Taiwan...led or tied for the Team USA club lead in all 3 triple crown categories, hitting .468 with 4 home runs and 27 RBI...for his efforts, was named USA Baseball's Athlete of the Year in 2004...while playing for Team USA, was teammates with 3B Alex Gordon, who was taken 2nd overall by KCR in the 2005 First-Year Player Draft...defensive propensity at the hot corner forced Gordon's shift to first base for the summer...using wood bats, summer offensive numbers (.468, 4 homers, 27 RBI) also out produced those of Gordon (.388, 4 homers, 12 RBI)...played summer ball with, among others David Wright and B.J. Upton during their high school days in the Norfolk/Virginia Beach, VA-area.

Completed dream season, producing success at the collegiate, minor league and big league levels...effort was both stellar and unique...began year as UVa's 3B...capped season as Frank Robinson's starting 3B in a pennant race... using wood bats, hit more homers (9) in 5 weeks of Double-A ball than in 3 seasons at UVa swinging an aluminum bat...on June 7, was the first draft selection in the history of the Nationals, the 4th overall selection out of Virginia... upon being promoted on Sept. 1, became the 2nd franchise first-rounder to reach the big leagues in the same season he was drafted...joined Chad Cordero, who pitched for the Expos in August of 2003 after being selected 20th overall in June...also became the first player to be signed and developed exclusively by the Washington Nationals...in other words, was the Nationals' first home-grown product, as opposed to those drafted and/or developed by the Expos... in 2nd at-bat, collected first big league hit, a double off Vicente Padilla, September 2 vs. PHI...with the initial hit, became the youngest franchise player (20 years, 339 days) to record a hit since Vladimir Guerrero in Sept. of 1996... was also the first player from the '05 draft to record a hit in the big leagues...hit .397 (23-for-58) with 10 doubles and 6 RBI in 20 games for Washington...September performance reminiscent of the most successful September call up in MLB history: Hall-of-Famer Stan Musial hit .426 (20-for-47) for STL after being recalled from Triple-A Rochester in September of '41....in the throes of a Wild Card chase, made first major league start, at SS, on Sept. 7 vs. FLA... doubled in first plate appearance against John Smoltz, September 11 vs. ATL...later in the same game, snapped 6-6 tie with 2-out go-ahead single in the 8th inning off Chris Reitsma (ATL, however, rallied to win the game with 3-run 9th inning)...down 5-4, led off 9th inning with double to spark game-tying rally and eventual 6-5 win in 10 innings, Sept. 15 at NYM...started 12 games (11 at 3B)...hit .318 (7-for-22) with 2 strikes...went 16-for-42 (.381) with 6 doubles in 15 games at RFK...hit above .300 against all 5 teams faced...when in the starting lineup, Washington went 4-8.

In Minor Leagues: Began pro career with 4-game stint in the Single-A South Atlantic League...went 0-for-4 in professional debut, June 21 vs. Charleston, but rebounded with trio of multi-hit games, June 22-24...hit first pro homer on June 22 at Charleston...posted 3 hits, including a double, in Double-A debut on June 25 vs. Akron...after slow start, adjusted to bat .372 (58-for-156) in final 41 Double-A games...following season, was rated by the same publication as the No. 5 prospect in the Eastern League, despite playing in just 63 games for Harrisburg.

PERSONAL

Ryan W. Zimmerman...single...following the 2006 season, established the ziMS Foundation, dedicated to the treatment and ultimate cure of Multiple Sclerosis by funding comprehensive support and educational programs...the ziMS Foundation will host local events in hometown of Virginia Beach, VA, and in Washington, DC to raise funds for the Foundation...also plans to be an active participant in the National MS Society and the Washington, DC chapter... in 1995, mother, Cheryl, was diagnosed with MS, a chronic and unpredictable disease that affects the central nervous system...participated in the Nationals' 2006 Winter Caravan...a standout at nearby University of Virginia...hit .393 with 6 home runs and 59 RBI as a senior in 2005 and helped Virginia earn a 2nd consecutive NCAA berth...capped collegiate career as a .355 career hitter with 47 doubles and 140 RBI in 3 seasons at UVa...helped the Cavaliers end the program's 8-year post-season void with a pair of NCAA berths in '04 and '05...despite playing just 3 collegiate seasons, Zimmerman is ranked among Virginia's all-time top 10 in hits (6th with 250), doubles (5th with 47) and RBI (7th with 140)...established a new school record for hits in a season (92)...was first UVa player to be selected in first round since Seth Greisinger was tabbed with 6th overall selection in the 1996 First-Year Player Draft.

HEAD ATHLETIC TRAINER

Michael McGowan
ASSISTANT ATHLETIC TRAINER

Kazuhiko Tomooka
STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING COORDINATOR

BENJAMIN SHAFFER, MD

Dr. Benjamin Shaffer begins his third year as team orthopedist and head team physician with the Washington Nationals. In addition to his duties as Nationals' Team Orthopedist, he serves as Head Team Physician to the NHL's Washington Capitals and orthopedic consultant to several area schools. Trained at the Kerlan-Jobe Orthopedic Clinic, Dr. Shaffer has also served as Director of Sports Medicine and Team Physician to the Georgetown University Hoyas athletic teams from 1992-2000, and the WUSA Washington Freedom women's professional soccer team during their three-year existence. Dr. Shaffer is a practitioner with Washington Orthopedics and Sports Medicine, and is on the medical staff of Sibley Memorial Hospital.

LEE KUNTZ

Lee Kuntz enters his second season with the Nationals after being named Head Athletic Trainer on January 12, 2007. Kuntz graduated from Lock Haven State College (PA), majoring in Health and Physical Education with a specialization in Athletic Training. Following graduation he was named a graduate assistant at Tennessee Tech, where he worked with the Golden Eagle football team, taught classes and earned a Master of Arts in Health and Physical Education. After a short stint at Glen Mills (PA) High, Kuntz accepted a job as a minor league athletic trainer with the Cleveland Indians. He worked his way up through their minor league system, reaching Double-A in 1988. Kuntz left baseball and took a clinical athletic training position with the Sports Medicine Center of Macon, GA, but after a year out of the game, resumed his athletic training career in baseball, again within the Indians' minor-league system. After a six-year tenure at the Triple-A level in Charlotte and Buffalo, Kuntz was named Assistant Athletic Trainer for the Kansas City Royals from 1999-2002. Following the 2002 season, Kuntz returned to the Cleveland Indians as Minor League Rehabilitation Coordinator and Medical Point person. Lee has a wife, Leslie, and two children, Leah and Emily.

MICHAEL McGOWAN

Mike McGowan enters his third season as Assistant Athletic Trainer of the Washington Nationals. Before being elevated to his current position, he served the Nationals in a dual role as minor league Athletic Training and Rehabilitation Coordinator in 2005. Mike held that same position with the Montreal Expos in 2003 and 2004 after serving solely as the Rehabilitation Coordinator in 2002. A native of Chicago, IL, Mike started his professional baseball career in 1993 in the Florida Marlins minor-league system. From 1996-1999, he simultaneously served as head athletic trainer with Single-A Brevard County and as Marlins minor league Rehabilitation Coordinator. McGowan has also gained valuable experience working winter-league ball in Mexico, Puerto Rico, and the Arizona Fall League (1997). He makes his home in Melbourne, FL with his wife, Heather, and children Brittany, Jacob and Michael.

KAZUHIKO TOMOOKA

Tomooka is entering his seventh season with the Nationals organization as Strength and Conditioning Coordinator. "Kazu" spent the prior four seasons with the Florida Marlins, the final three as Assistant Strength and Conditioning Coordinator. He began his baseball career with Florida in 1998 as an intern, and is a '98 graduate of the University of Florida with a degree in athletic training, thanks in part to a scholarship from PBATS in 1997. Tomooka is a certified member of not only the National Athletic Trainers Association, but of the National Strength and Conditioning Association and the Professional Baseball Strength and Conditioning Society. Born in Tokyo, Japan, Tomooka came to the United States in 1995. While in Japan, he played football (cornerback) for Rikkyo University. He resides with wife, Aya, in Fujimi-shi, Japan during the off-season.

2007 IN REVIEW

WASHINGTON NATIONALS 2007 TEAM NOTES

3 DOWN, MANNY MANNY TO GO

The Washington Nationals completed their 3rd season in DC, the first of the Manny Acta era, with a 73-89 (.451) record...the Nationals finished 4th in the NL East, 16.0 games behind division-champion PHI.

- The Nationals' 73-89 effort ran the franchise's all-time record to 2980-3204-4...the Nationals are now 225-261 (.463) in 3 seasons since relocating from Montreal following the 2004 campaign.

WHEN IS 4 MORE THAN 5?

By finishing 73-89 (.451), the Nationals avoid the NL East cellar for the first time since 2003, when the Expos finished 4th with an 83-79 record...the Nationals were 2.0 games better than 5th-place FLA.

BREAK EVEN BALL FROM MAY 11

After dropping 25 of the season's first 34 contests, the Nationals, at 64-64 (.500), played break-even ball beginning May 11... Washington's 64-64 mark beginning May 11 was the 7th-best record in the NL, ahead of STL (64-66), LAD (62-65), ATL (62-66), MIL (59-69), CIN (57-70), HOU (57-71) and FLA (55-73).

SOME 2007 FACTS

The 2007 Nationals employed the services of 47 players to tie for 11th in MLB...the 47 players were 10 less than last season's MLB-leading and franchise-record 57...a franchise-record 26 pitchers toed the rubber for the Nationals, 13 of which started at least one game for Manny Acta and pitching coach Randy St. Claire...the 13 starting pitchers tied for 3rd in MLB behind only TEX (15) and NYY (14).

- The Nationals' 73-89 (.438) record tied HOU for 11th in the NL and 21st in MLB.
- The losing season was the franchise's 23rd in 39 NL campaigns.
- The Nationals never owned a winning record in 2007...twice, the Nationals dropped a season-high 19 games below .500 (Aug. 31 at 58-77 and Sept. 22 at 68-87)...however, both times, the Nationals answered with winning streaks of 5 and 4 games, respectively.
- Washington registered a winning record in day games (24-22), games decided by one run (27-24), games decided by 2 runs or less (41-40), against the NL Central (21-18) and when facing an opposing left-handed starter (25-24).
- The Nationals registered non-winning records in extra-inning games (5-9), games started by an opposing right-handed starter (48-65), games on natural grass (70-86), shutouts (6-12), two-run games (14-16), road games (33-48), games on artificial turf (3-3), night games (49-67), games against NL East rivals (32-40) and games against the NL West (11-22).

73-WIN SEASON'S SILVER LINING

Washington's 73-89 record will render the 9th selection in the 2008 First-Year Player Draft...the Nationals will pick behind TBR (first), PIT (2nd), KCR (3rd), BAL (4th), SFG (5th), FLA (6th), CIN (7th), CWS (8th).

YOUTH SERVED

14 rookies appeared in at least one game for the Nationals in '07...7 teams employed more than Washington's 14.

- Washington tied FLA for 5th in MLB as 9 of the 14 rookies were pitchers.
- 9 players, including 6 pitchers, made big league debuts as Nationals this season: Jonathan Albaladejo (MLB debut on Sept. 5 vs. FLA), Kory Casto (April 3 vs. FLA), Ross Detwiler (Sept. 7 at ATL), Matt Chico (April 4 vs. FLA), Jesus Flores (April 4 vs. FLA), Joel Hanrahan (July 28 [N] at NYM), John Lannan (July 26 at PHI), Justin Maxwell (Sept. 5 vs. FLA) and Levale Speigner (April 2 vs. FLA).

ONE-RUN WONDERS

Despite finishing 16 games below .500, the Nationals went 27-24 (.529) in one-run games in 2007...the differential in the Nationals' overall winning percentage compared to their winning percentage in one-run games was an NL-leading +.078... only TEX (+.128) and TBR (+.105) posted better winning-percentage differentials in the AL.

- The Nationals' 27 one-run victories tied for 4th in MLB behind only ARI (32), CLE (29) and LAD (28).

RFK, SWEET RFK

In 2007, for first time in their 3 seasons at RFK, the Nationals posted a non-winning record at 40-41...after dropping 6 of their first 7 home contests, the Nationals went 39-35 (.527) at RFK beginning with a 5-0 win vs. ATL on April 16.

- With a 5-3 win over PHI in the RFK finale, September 23, the Nationals capped their 3-year residency in the only DC home they have known with a 122-121 (.502) mark...the (expansion) Senators went 363-441 (.451) at RFK from '62-71... thus, the Nationals and Senators went a combined 485-562 (.463) in 13 big league seasons at RFK.
- FLA spoiled the fun by topping the Nationals, 9-2, in the April 2 true home opener at RFK...the Nationals (1-2) and Senators (2-8) combined on a 3-9 record in home openers at RFK.
- The Nationals drew 1,961,606 fans in 2007 to up the final 13-year baseball attendance for RFK to 11,602,457.

BEEN THERE, DONE THAT

Brian Schneider (team-best 4 straight Opening Day starts, 2004-07) and Ryan Zimmerman (2 straight, 2006-07) are the only 2 current Nationals to have started at least 2 straight Opening Days for the Nationals.

- Schneider has been the franchise's starter behind the plate in 4 consecutive season openers...this is the longest streak on the club...the only catcher in the NL to earn more consecutive Opening Day starts with one franchise is Brad Ausmus, who has been HOU's O.D. starting catcher for 5 straight seasons.
- Ryan is the first franchise player to start 2 straight openers at 3B since Michael Barrett (1999-00) turned the trick.

BRIAN'S SONG

Brian Schneider is the longest tenured player in the organization, as he was drafted by the Expos in June 1995...Brian is also the longest tenured player on the Nationals, as he first appeared in the big leagues in 2000 with Montreal.

EX-EXPOS

Of the 47 players to appear in at least one game with the Nationals this season, only 7 ever played for the Montreal Expos: Tony Batista, Ryan Church, Chad Cordero, Shawn Hill, John Patterson, Jon Rauch and Brian Schneider.

- Manager Manny Acta, as well as pitching coach Randy St. Claire and 1B coach Jerry Morales also donned Expos pinstripes during the franchise's tenure in Montreal.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Washington went 9-9 in interleague play...Washington won 3 of its 6 interleague series by sweeping 3 straight vs. BAL (June 12-14), as well as taking 2 of 3 at MIN (June 8-10) and vs. CLE (June 22-24)...since the inception of interleague play in '97, the Nationals/Expos are 97-96 (.503) all-time against the AL.

- '07 interleague play notes: the AL went a remarkable 137-115 (.544) in interleague action...Dmitri Young's 27 interleague hits tied FLA's Hanley Ramirez for the most in the NL.
- Nationals' designated hitters combined to bat .275 (11-for-40) with 3 doubles, one homer and 4 RBI in '07...since interleague play's inception in '97, franchise DHs are batting .229 (88-for-376) with 14 doubles, 5 homers and 31 RBI in 98 games in AL parks...Dmitri Young's solo homer on June 16 at TOR was the franchise's first long ball hit by a DH since '03...the other 4 franchise DHs to homer were Wil Cordero (June 27, 2003 at TOR), Jose Vidro (June 14, 2001 at NYY), Orlando Merced (June 5, 1999 at TOR) and Sherman Obando (June 18, 1997 at BAL).

BEST VALENTINE'S DAY PRESENT EVER!!!

On Feb. 14, Jim Bowden announced the signing of 1B Dmitri Young to a non-guaranteed minor league contract...after spending approximately a month in the Nationals' minor league camp, where Young mentored numerous minor leaguers and made a personal pledge of fitness through eating correctly and exercise, he joined the Nationals big league camp for the last 2 weeks of Spring Training...after showing a stellar bat in the Grapefruit League, had contract selected by the Nationals on March 27... a closer look at some of Dmitri's numerous memorable moments in 2007:

★ Young lifted a game-ending single to left field to cap a 3-run 9th in a 7-6 win, April 4 vs. FLA...the win was the first of Manny Acta's career.

★ Dmitri agreed to terms on a 2-year contract extension with the Nationals in between games of a day-night "doubleheader" on July 28 at NYM.

★ Young hit .320 (147-for-460) with 38 doubles, 13 home runs and 74 RBI in 136 games with the Nationals in 2007 and for his efforts, joined TBR's Carlos Pena (AL) as MLB's 2007 Comeback Player of the Year Award winners...he was later named NL Comeback Player of the Year by The Sporting News.

WMP = WEAPON OF MASS PRODUCTION

On Aug. 17, the Nationals acquired Wily Mo Pena and cash considerations from BOS in exchange for a player to be named (1B/OF Chris Carter, who was acquired from ARI on Aug. 21 and immediately dealt to BOS as the PTBN)...in 37 games with the Nationals, Pena hit .293 with 8 homers and 22 RBI in his return to the NL...a look at the Nationals' offensive production before Wily Mo (B.W.M.P.) vs. after Wily Mo (A.W.M.P.):

	RUNS PER GAME	HR FREQUENCY (OF ONLY)	MULTI-HR GAMES (TEAM)
Before Wily Mo (Apr. 2-Aug. 17)	3.88	1 HR/51.1 AB (26 HR/1329 AB)	18 in 122 games
After Wily Mo (Aug. 18-present)	5.00	1 HR/24.3 AB (20 HR/485 AB)	12 in 40 games

★ From Aug. 20 through the end of the season, Washington's 20 outfield home runs tied for 5th in MLB with STL...only COL (27), CHI (26), SDP (23) and PHI (21) hit more.

JULY HEAT

Thanks to a 14-12 mark in July and a 15-12 record in Sept., the Nationals posted winning records in 2 of the season's final 3 months.

TALE OF 2 OFFENSIVE HALVES

The Nationals' offensive output was discernibly superior the 2nd "half" as compared to prior to the All-Star break:

PERIOD	G	REC	PCT	R	R/GM	HR	AVG	OBP	SLG
Post All-Star break	74	37-37	.500	347	4.69	69	.266	.338	.420
Pre All-Star break	88	36-52	.409	326	3.70	54	.248	.313	.365

BULLPEN ACTA-VATION

Manny Acta made an all-time MLB-record 588 pitching changes in 2007...FLA ranked 2nd with 560, while AL leader NYY tied for 5th in MLB with 522.

DOUBLE-DOUBLE

By legging out 43 two-baggers apiece, Ryan Zimmerman and Ryan Church recorded the 27th and 28th 40-double seasons in franchise annals...the 2 Ryans form the franchise's 8th 40-40 double tandem of all-time.

★ In 2006, a franchise-record 3 different Nationals reached the 40-double plateau: Zimmerman (47), Nick Johnson (46) and Alfonso Soriano (41).

RECORD BOOK REWRITTEN

A look at the franchise records set during the 2007 campaign...these records span 39 NL seasons beginning in 1969, the Expos first season in Montreal: Most relief appearances, season (MLB-record 588), most relief innings (590.2) and fewest complete games, season (0).

BETTER LEATHER

Manny Acta's Nationals committed 109 errors in 2007, or 16.8 percent less than last season, when Washington made an MLB-leading 130 miscues...Washington also flashed dramatic improvement with 153 double plays (up 24.3% from 2006) and just 22 multi-error games (down 24.1% from 2006).

★ The Nationals' .982 fielding percentage—up from last season's .978 mark—was the 6th-best single-season mark in the franchise's 39 NL seasons.

IS THERE A DOCTOR IN THE HOUSE?

The Nationals made 19 DL moves in 2007 affecting 15 different players...the Nationals lost 1,260 games to the DL in '07, or 355 less than last season, when the '06 Nationals lost 1615 games to the DL.

★ 4 players (Jason Bergmann, Micah Bowie, Cristian Guzman, Jerome Williams) endured multiple stints on the DL...5 players missed more than 100 games: Alex Escobar (162), Nick Johnson (162), John Patterson (131), Ryan Wagner (129), Cristian Guzman (108).

OH CANADA!

On Aug. 24 at Coors Field, RHP Shawn Hill (Mississauga, Ontario) squared off against fellow Canuck LHP Jeff Francis (Vancouver, British Columbia)...according to the good folks at Elias Sports Bureau, the matchup of Canadian starting pitchers was MLB's first since Canada Day 2000 (July 1), when FLA's Ryan Dempster was opposed by Montreal's Mike Johnson at The Big O...Hill (one run in 7.0 innings) out pitched Francis (4 runs/2 earned in 6.1 innings) and left in line for the win, but COL plated 5 in the 9th to stun Washington, 6-5.

NOOK WAS OFF THE HOOK WITH 5 HITS

Nook Logan went 5-for-6 with 3 RBI in his first career start at HOU's Minute Maid Park on August 21, and thus recorded the franchise's first 5-hit game since the Expos Mark Grudzielanek turned the trick, May 8, 1998 vs. COL...the franchise's 5-hit drought, which ended at 3392 days between the 5-hit efforts posted by Grudzielanek and Logan, was the longest in MLB...16 different players have now posted 5 or more hits for the Nationals/Expos franchise, including Rondell White, who notched a franchise single-game record 6 safeties, June 11, 1995 at SFG.

WELCOME TO THE BIG LEAGUES, NOW YOU ARE EJECTED

LHP John Lannan made his big league debut on July 26 at PHI, allowing 5 runs (4 earned) on 5 hits in 4.1 innings in Washington's 7-6 victory...however, it was not Lannan's performance that was noteworthy...instead, Lannan's debut will be remembered for his ejection, without warning, by home-plate umpire Hunter Wendelstedt for hitting back-to-back hitters, Chase Utley and Ryan Howard, with pitches in the 5th inning.

★ Lannan became just the 5th player in MLB history to be ejected in game that was also a big league debut...the first 4: CIN's Aaron Boone (June 20, 1997, throwing helmet), OAK's Doug Johns (July 8, 1995, throwing at batter), MIL's Sid Roberson (May 20, 1995, throwing at batter), PHI's Andy Carter (May 3, 1994, excessive wildness).

ZIM 162

Ryan Zimmerman is one of only 3 big leaguers to start an MLB-leading 162 games this season...Zim is joined on this list by ATL's Jeff Francoeur and PHI's Jimmy Rollins.

★ Zimmerman became just the 5th player in franchise annals, the first Washington National, to start 162 in a season... the other 4 were all Expos: Orlando Cabrera (twice: 2003, 2001), Warren Cromartie (1980), Ken Singleton (1973) and Rusty Staub (1971).

WHEN DOES 3 LEFTS MAKE A RIGHT?

With Matt Chico, John Lannan and Mike Bacsik earning the wins during 3-game sweep of CIN, July 31-Aug. 2, note that, according to Elias Sports Bureau, the last MLB team to record a sweep of 3 or more games with a left-handed starting pitcher earning the win in each contest was OAK, July 26-28, 2004 vs. SEA (Barry Zito, Mark Redman, Mark Mulder)...the feat turned in by Chico, Lannan and Bacsik was the first in franchise annals.

HIT, RUN, SLAM

On May 12 vs. FLA, Austin Kearns legged out the first inside-the-park home run in the history of the Nationals AND Ryan Zimmerman hit a game-ending grand slam to provide Washington with a 7-3 win.

★ According to home run guru David Vincent, the Nationals thus became just the 3rd team in MLB history to hit an inside-the-park home run and a game-ending grand slam in the same contest via 2 different home runs (in other words, not a game-ending ITP grand slam)...the first 2 clubs to turn this distinct feat were the 1930 Detroit Tigers (August 4, 1930 vs. CWS, Hall-of-Famer Charlie Gehringer hit both the ITP homer and the game-ending slam) and the 1987 Montreal Expos (August 15, 1987 vs. PIT, Tim Wallach legged out the ITP homer, while Vance Law hit a game-ending slam off Brian Fisher to provide the Expos with a 6-3 win).

SINGLE-DIGIT SOLOISTS

According to Elias Sports Bureau, the 2007 Nationals became the first team in a non strike-shortened season lasting at least 110 games to have no pitcher post a double-digit win or loss total.

★ According to Elias, numerous teams had this happen in 1994 and 1981, both of which were strike-shortened seasons).

25-25-25

Justin Maxwell was one of 6 professional players to tally at least 25 doubles, 25 home runs and 25 stolen bases this season, at any level...the only player to reach 25-25-25 status at the minor-league level in 2007, Maxwell (25-*29-35, *-includes 2 big league home runs) joined CIN's Brandon Phillips (26-30-32), FLA's Hanley Ramirez (48-29-51), PHI's Jimmy Rollins (38-30-41), NYM's David Wright (42-30-34) and ARI's Chris Young (29-32-27) on this short list.

The Nationals named OF Justin Maxwell (.281, 25 doubles, 27 homers, 83 RBI and 35 stolen bases with Single-A Hagerstown and Single-A Potomac) and LHP John Lannan (combined 12-3, 2.31 ERA at 3 levels) their 2007 Minor League Player and Pitcher of the Year, respectively.

- Both Maxwell (the Nationals' 2nd selection [4th round] in the 2005 First-Year Player Draft out of the University of Maryland) and Lannan (Washington's 11th-round selection in the 2005 First-Year Player Draft out of Siena [NY] College) reached the big leagues with the Nationals this season.

[2007] DRAFT AND FOLLOW

At the end of October, Baseball America honored the Nationals for having the "Best Draft" class in 2007...Jim Bowden, Mike Rizzo, Dana Brown and Bob Boone and each of the organization's scouts brought to the farm system a slew of prospects as yet another part of the ongoing rebuilding effort...here is a look at some facts and figures from the 2007 First-Year Player Draft:

- Washington and SFG were the only teams to sign their first 20 selections.
- Washington signed 3 first-round pitching talents in LHP Ross Detwiler (First round - 6th overall), LHP Josh Smoker (Sandwich round - 31st overall) and LHP Jack McGeary (6th round - 190th overall)...McGeary came to terms even with a commitment to attend Stanford University...under the terms, which were agreed upon just minutes before the midnight deadline on the night of August 15, McGeary will play pro ball in the summer months and attend school during the fall and winter.
- Detwiler, who played his college ball at Missouri State University, became the first member of the 2007 draft class to appear in a big league game when he made his debut September 7 at ATL...he tossed a scoreless 9th inning in a 7-1 loss that night.
- Washington acquired 3 extra draft picks for the losses of free-agent outfielders Alfonso Soriano (CHI) and Jose Guillen (SEA):

Free Agent from 2006	Compensatory Pick	Player Drafted
Alfonso Soriano	Sandwich (31st overall)	LHP Josh Smoker
Jose Guillen	Sandwich (49th overall)	OF Michael Burgess
Alfonso Soriano	2nd Round (67th overall)	RHP Jordan Zimmermann

- Smoker, who signed just 2 days before the August 15 deadline, appeared just twice for Vermont of the short-season Single-A New York-Penn League, allowing a pair of runs while striking out 5 in 4.0 innings...Burgess was rated by Baseball America as the No. 1 prospect in the rookie-level Gulf Coast League after hitting .336 with 8 homers and 32 RBI in 36 games...he finished the year with Vermont, where he hit .286 with 3 homers and 10 RBI in 19 games...Zimmermann was rated by Baseball America as the No. 5 prospect in the New York-Penn League after going 5-2 with a 2.38 ERA in 13 games.
- Other draft pick highlights: OF Jake Smolinski (2nd round - Boylan Catholic High School in Chicago) hit .305 with 16 RBI in 28 games with the GCL Nationals...RHP Brad Meyers (5th round - Loyola Marymount University) started his first year of pro ball with the GCL Nationals and ended it with Potomac of the Single-A Carolina League...he allowed just 2 hits in 9.0 scoreless innings in the GCL...he then surrendered only one earned run in 20.2 innings with Hagerstown of the Single-A South Atlantic League before being promoted to Potomac...OF Boomer Whiting (28th round - University of Louisville) led the NY-Penn League with 37 stolen bases.
- Washington's draft was dedicated to Nationals scout Doug McMillan, who passed away on May 23 at the age of 60... McMillan scouted for the Nationals/Expos organization for the last 6 years, overseeing the Northern California and Pacific Northwest regions...Doug's son Brett McMillan, a left-handed-hitting first baseman, was drafted by the Nationals in 2006 in the 14th round out of UCLA...he completed 2007 with Single-A Potomac.

WASHINGTON NATIONALS® 2008 MEDIA GUIDE

HISTORY & RECORDS

BASEBALL RETURNS TO OUR NATION'S CAPITAL

On Wednesday, September 29, 2004, Major League Baseball selected the Washington, D.C. proposal as its choice for relocation of the Montreal Expos. Commissioner Allan H. (Bud) Selig made the announcement. Relocation of the club was subject to certain contingencies, including a formal vote of ownership at the next owners' meeting in November and passage of legislation by the District of Columbia Council to provide for financing and construction of a ballpark on the Anacostia River waterfront in Southeast Washington. MLB also provided the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida the required notice of MLB's intent to move forward with relocating the team.

The D.C. agreement also included financing for the refurbishing of RFK Stadium, where the Washington, D.C. franchise played through the 2007 campaign.

"Washington, D.C., as our nation's capital, is one of the world's most important cities and Major League Baseball is gratified at the skill and perseverance shown by (then) Mayor Williams throughout this long process," Selig said. "There has been tremendous growth in the Washington, D.C. area over the last 33 years and we in Major League Baseball believe that baseball will be welcomed there and will be a great success."

Selig also said: "I would like to thank the representatives who worked on behalf of Northern Virginia, Norfolk, VA, Las Vegas, Portland, OR, Monterrey, Mexico and others for devoting so much time and energy in their attempts to bring a Major League Baseball team to their communities."

At the time, Washington, D.C. was the largest market in the country in terms of population (5.4 million) and television market size (eighth) without a Major League Baseball team.

Even though Washington, D.C. baseball has a long history with the American League, the team will play in the National League East Division, which in fact marks its return to its baseball roots. The first Washington, D.C. franchise joined the National League in 1886 and was part of the NL, except for a two-year hiatus in 1890-91, until the National League contracted Washington and three other franchises in 1900.

But a year later, Ban Johnson organized the American League and included Washington, D.C. as one of its charter franchises. Although the original Senators were mostly mediocre throughout their history, they fielded one of the game's greatest all-time pitchers, Walter "Big Train" Johnson and made three trips to the World Series, winning it in 1924 in a seven-game series against the New York Giants. In 1925, the Senators lost in seven games to Pittsburgh and lost in five games to the Giants in 1933.

The second incarnation of the Senators came in 1961 in the form of an expansion team. Like its predecessor, the Senators often finished in the second division and had only one winning season in their 11-year history. The Senators moved after the 1971 season and Washington, D.C. was without Major League Baseball until 2005.

THE HISTORY OF BASEBALL IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

When the first professional baseball games were played in the nation's capital, Washington, D.C., the enduring symbol of freedom in America - the Statue of Liberty - was still two years away from being dedicated. There were 38 states in the Union and what would become the State of Oklahoma had yet to be settled. More than seven decades had passed since Washington, D.C. became the capital of the United States and baseball was quickly evolving into the National Pastime.

A Washington team was admitted to the National League in 1885 and played during the League's 10th professional season in 1886. Washington played 12 years in the National League - 1886-89 and 1892-99 - but was part of a four-team contraction in 1900 as the National League went from 12 franchises to eight.

Later that same year, former Western League president Ban Johnson was organizing a second Major League to compete with the National League and announced plans to include a franchise in the nation's capital. The new League was called the American League and began play in 1901.

This Washington franchise was awarded to James Manning and Detroit businessman Fred Postal. Manning retired later that year and Tom Loftus replaced him as the club's primary executive. The Senators finished in sixth place in 1901 with a 61-72 mark and would eventually be sold to an ownership group including Thomas C. Noyes, Benjamin Minor and Harry Rapley, among others.

The first of two individual tragedies struck the organization in only its third season as the Senators lost a key figure when future Hall of Fame outfielder Ed Delahanty was tragically killed in July 1903 when he was swept over Niagara Falls. Delahanty was the reigning American League batting champion and his sudden death took its toll on the team as the Senators finished the campaign with a 43-94 mark.

Effective for the 1905 campaign, the team name was changed to Nationals. Newspaper accounts use the names Senators and Nationals interchangeably for the next five decades.

While it took 12 years before the Nationals finished a season with a winning record, the signing of 20 year-old pitcher Walter Johnson in 1907 would signify a key moment in the franchise's history. Under first-year manager, Clark Griffith, the 1912 Washington Club posted a 91-61 mark and ended up in second place, 14 games behind the eventual World Champion Boston Red Sox.

Johnson appeared in a remarkable 50 games that year - 37 as a starter - and went 33-12 with a league-leading 1.39 ERA and 303 strikeouts. The following year he was even better as he led the Nationals to their second consecutive 90-win season. "Big Train" went 36-7 with 11 shutouts and a 1.14 ERA, which still stands today as one of the lowest ERAs by a starting pitcher in a single season.

In 1912, 40 year-old team president Thomas C. Noyes fell ill to pneumonia and eventually succumbed to the disease. Noyes had been instrumental in the franchise's improvements since he took over and was replaced as team president by Minor, a prominent Washington attorney. Minor, unable to devote the necessary time to the club, subsequently sold the controlling interest to Griffith and Philadelphia businessman William Richardson in 1919.

Following a 75-78 season in 1923, Griffith made a controversial decision by appointing 27 year-old second baseman Stanley "Bucky" Harris as field manager. Harris was the fifth manager in the previous five seasons for the Nationals, but he guided one of the great reversals in baseball history as the Nationals in 1924 won more games than ever before, 92, and captured their first American League pennant.

In the 1924 World Series, the Nationals took on famed manager John McGraw and the New York Giants. The Series was one of the closest in history as four games were decided by a single run, including the deciding Game Seven. On the strength of Walter Johnson's four innings of relief pitching - on two days' rest - and the Series clinching hit by Earl McNeeley in the bottom of the 12th inning, the Nationals won their first and only World Series Championship.

United States President Calvin Coolidge, who threw out the ceremonial first pitch on three occasions during the Series, paid tribute to the hometown victors immediately following the victory:

"I have only the heartiest praise to bestow upon the individual players of both teams. Naturally, in Washington, we were pleased to see Walter Johnson finish the final game, pitching for our home team. Everybody was pleased to see him come back at the close of the last game. The three contests I witnessed maintained throughout a high degree of skill, and every evidence of high-class sportsmanship which will bring to every observer an increased respect and confidence in our national game."

The following year, Harris once again led the Nationals to a record regular season finish as they posted 96 wins and clinched a second-straight American League pennant. Their second trip to the World Series was just as close but this time they came up short in a seven-game Series to the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Senators had a 7-6 lead entering the bottom of the eighth in Game Seven, but could not hold it as the Pirates scored three runs in the inning off Johnson and held on to clinch the Series victory.

Johnson concluded his amazing 21-year playing career with Nationals in 1927 with career totals of 417-279, a 2.36 ERA, 3,508 strikeouts and a big league-record 110 shutouts. He was among the first class of inductees into the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, NY, in 1936.

The "Big Train" was not gone from the Washington scene long as Griffith brought him back to replace Harris as the Nationals' manager in 1929. Despite posting three straight 90-win seasons, Johnson was removed from his post after the 1932 season and replaced by Joe Cronin, the team's 26 year-old shortstop.

Cronin's first season with the Nationals produced the franchise's best regular season mark ever at 99-53 and its third American League pennant. Washington again faced the New York Giants in the Fall Classic but fell in five games to a team led by the pitching of Carl Hubbell (20 IP, 0 ER) and the hitting of Mel Ott, who clinched the Series for New York with a 10th-inning homer in Game Five.

The Nationals franchise then fell on hard times. Washington won just 66 games in '34 and the team posted only two more winning seasons the next 25 years. The team name was officially changed to Senators for the '56 campaign.

Calvin Griffith, who became team president after his father's death in 1955, was granted permission to seek relocation in Sept. 1960, and an announcement was made in Oct. 1960 that the Senators were being moved to Minneapolis, MN.

At that time, the American League announced plans to expand by two teams for the 1961 season. One team would be located in Los Angeles and the other in Washington, D.C.

EXPANSION SENATORS

An expansion draft was conducted in Boston on December 10, 1960 and the Senators selected the following players at $75,000 each:

PITCHERS	CATCHERS	INFIELDERS	OUTFIELDERS
Pete Burnside	Pete Daley	Chester Boak	Joe Hicks
Dick Donovan	Dutch Dotterer	Bob Johnson	Chuck Hinton
Rudy Hernandez	Gene Green	Billy Klaus	Marty Keough
Ed Hobaugh		Dale Long	Jim King
Johhny Klippstein		Jim Mahoney	Willie Tasby
Hector Maestri		John Schaive	Gene Woodling
Carl Mathias		Coot Veal
Bobby Shantz		Bud Zipfel
Dave Sisler
Tom Sturdivant
Hal Woodeshick

The expansion Senators fared no better than their predecessors, as they lost at least 100 games in each of their first four seasons. In 1964, the Senators acquired five players in a deal with the Los Angeles Dodgers for pitcher Claude Osteen. One of those five players was slugging outfielder and the 1960 National League Rookie of the Year, Frank Howard.

An imposing presence at 6-7, 250 lbs., Howard brought a much-needed offensive punch to the Senators lineup and the Senators win total increased in each of his first three seasons in Washington. After struggling again in 1968, new team president Robert Short brought in Hall of Fame outfielder Ted Williams as the new manager of the Senators.

Howard and his teammates responded to the "Splendid Splinter" during his rookie managerial campaign as Washington's win total improved 21 games to 86 in 1969. It was also Howard's best year in the Majors, as he batted .296 with 48 home runs, 111 RBI and 111 runs scored and finished fourth in the balloting for American League Most Valuable Player.

Unfortunately, the team was unable to build upon their success in '69. The Senators lost 92 games in '70 and 96 in '71. On Sept. 21, 1971, owners approved the transfer of the Senators to Arlington, TX, where it became the Texas Rangers.

After 71 years in the American League and nearly 100 since the debut of professional baseball in the nation's capital, Washington, D.C., hosted its "final" regular season on September 30, 1971 at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium. The Senators moved after the 1971 season and Washington, D.C. was without Major League Baseball until 2005.

WASHINGTON, D.C. BALLPARKS

Pro baseball teams were formed in our nation's capital beginning in the early 1870s and those franchises played their games in ballparks commonly known as Swampoodle Grounds, Capitol Grounds and Boundary Field.

In 1892, the Washington Senators joined the expanding National League and began playing their home games at a site that would host professional baseball games into the early 1960s. From 1892-99, the Senators played at National Park, which had a seating capacity of approximately 6,500. Although never finishing above sixth place, the team drew fairly well, including more than 200,000 fans in 1896.

When the National League contracted from 12 franchises to eight following the 1899 season, the team was disbanded. However, it would only be two seasons before a professional team occupied that site again.

During those 2 years, former Western League president Ban Johnson was working to put together a 2nd Major League to rival the NL. In 1901, the American League began play with 8 franchises, including the Washington Nationals.

This franchise would play its home games on the same site as the previous National League Washington team, but the ballpark was appropriately renamed, American League Base Ball Park and the capacity was expanded to nearly 10,000.

On March 17, 1911, tragedy struck the American League Base Ball Park. The all-wooden ballpark and four surrounding buildings were completely destroyed by a fire started by a plumber's blow lamp and a strong wind. American League Base Ball Park could not be saved as plumbers working on the park's drain pipes had shut off the water supply and by the time fire fighters arrived, the grand stand and bleachers were engulfed in flames. At the time, the loss of the ballpark was estimated at $20,000.

Thomas C. Noyes, president of the Washington franchise, gained approval from the Board of Directors to announce that work would begin immediately on a new ballpark with a steel grandstand. With the players at Spring Training and Opening Day less than a month away, crews worked tirelessly to get the ballpark ready for the home opener.

By Opening Day 1911, the grandstands were sufficiently erected for the Nationals to host the Boston Red Sox with President William Howard Taft in attendance. The work on the ballpark continued when the team was on the road and was completed on July 24, 1911 at a final cost of approximately $100,000. Seating capacity was more than 27,000, including a presidential box near the first base dugout.

In 1920, the American League Base Ball Park was renamed Griffith Stadium in recognition of the franchise's owner and president, Clark Griffith. The only major alteration to the ballpark was also made in 1920 as the double-decked stands were extended from the bases to the foul poles.

During the late-1930s and 1940s, Griffith Stadium had another part-time tenant - the famed Homestead Grays of the Negro Leagues. Originally from Pennsylvania, the Grays played half of their games at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh and half at Griffith Stadium when the Washington franchise was on the road. Some of the most revered players in Negro League history played for the Grays, including Josh Gibson, Buck Leonard, Cool Papa Bell and Sam Bankhead, as they won nine Negro League championships.

Griffith Stadium, which also hosted the Major League Baseball All-Star Game in 1937 and 1956 and three World Series in 1924, 1925 and 1933, remained the home of the Washington franchise until it was moved to Minneapolis following the 1960 season.

The expansion Washington Senators played their inaugural season at Griffith Stadium in 1961 before moving into District of Columbia Stadium for the 1962 season.

After having been the site of professional baseball in Washington, DC, since 1892, the final game at Griffith Stadium was played on September 21, 1961 as the Senators fell to the Minnesota Twins, 4-3, before a crowd of 1,498 fans. Griffith Stadium was demolished in 1965 and is now utilized by Howard University. Nearly 1,000 of the original seats from Griffith Stadium were moved to a Spring Training facility near Orlando, Fla., Tinker Field. Those seats remain there today.

A federally-owned stadium, District of Columbia Stadium was a new three-tiered, multi-purpose facility constructed near the Potomac River at a cost of approximately $24 million. The Senators signed a 10-year lease on September 29, 1961 with the D.C. Armory Board for the stadium, which had a seating capacity of 45,016.

On April 9, 1962, the Senators played their first regular season game at District of Columbia Stadium. A crowd of 42,143 - including President John F. Kennedy — saw Senators pitcher Bennie Daniels defeat the Detroit Tigers, 4-1. Interestingly enough, Daniels suffered the loss at both the final game at Ebbets Field in 1957 and the final game at Griffith Stadium in 1961.

Under the direction of the D.C. Armory Board, the stadium was officially renamed Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium on January 18, 1969.

The 1969 Major League Baseball All-Star Game was the fourth hosted by the Senators and the second at RFK Stadium (also first game in 1962). Despite the American League dropping a 9-3 decision to the National League, Washington fans saw future Hall of Famer Willie McCovey hit a pair of homers and hometown favorite Frank Howard hit one as well.

In 1971, the Senators played their final season at RFK Stadium before moving to Arlington, Texas. The final regular season Major League Baseball game was played at RFK on September 30, 1971. Washington hosted the New York Yankees before a crowd of just 14,460 in a game that was never finished. The Senators were holding on to a 7-5 lead with two outs in the top of the ninth inning when fans rushed the field. The umpiring crew could not clear the field and the game was forfeited to the Yankees, 9-0.

RFK Stadium has hosted 16 exhibition games involving Major League teams since the Senators moved in 1971. A portion of the proceeds from most of the games was donated to various charities. Attendance at the 16 contests averaged more than 27,600 per game. Following is a listing of those games:

On March 14, 2006, Washington, DC Mayor Anthony Williams, the D.C. Sports & Entertainment Commission and the Washington Nationals unveiled plans for a 41,000-seat state-of-the-art baseball stadium located in Southeast DC. Seven weeks later, on May 4, ground was officially broken on the ballpark site. The Nationals are slated to kick off the 2008 season by hosting Atlanta on March 30, 2008—as part of ESPN's Sunday Night Baseball series.

THE TRADITION OF OPENING DAY IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

Each Major League Club has its own unique celebration to mark the opening of the Major League Baseball season, but Opening Day in the nation's capital, Washington, D.C., was always a special and sometimes historic event. Washington, D.C.'s Opening Day tradition dates to April 14, 1910. William Howard Taft, the 27th President of the United States, attended the home opener of the Washington Senators against the Philadelphia Athletics. Numerous other government officials, including Vice President James Sherman, joined President Taft at the ballpark.

An overflow crowd of 12,000 fans—the largest baseball crowd in Washington at that time—gave President Taft an standing ovation as he made his way to his seats on the first-base side. Team president Thomas C. Noyes then took the 2 managers—Washington's Jimmy McAleer and Philadelphia's legendary Connie Mack—to meet the President.

Just prior to the start of the game, umpire Billy Evans walked over to President Taft's box and presented him with a new baseball. Evans instructed President Taft that he was to throw the ball from his seat in the stands to Senators pitcher Walter Johnson, who was standing at home plate, to officially commence the start of the American League championship season. After giving the ball briefly to First Lady Helen Taft, the President adjusted his gloves and made a good throw to Johnson, who immediately gave the ball to catcher Charles Street to have it secured in a safe place.

President Taft watched the entire game, a 3-0 Washington victory in which Johnson hurled a one-hit, complete-game shutout. After the game, Johnson sent the historic ball to the White House accompanied by a note to President Taft asking for his autograph on the ball. President Taft returned the ball after penning the following on it:

"For Walter Johnson, with the hope that he may continue to be as formidable as in yesterday's game. William H. Taft."

Although President Taft was the first to throw out a ceremonial first pitch, it was not the first time a President of the United States attended a Major League Baseball game. Benjamin Harrison, the 23rd U.S. President, is believed to be the first sitting President to attend a Major League game when he witnessed a NL game between Cincinnati and Washington in June 1892. That wasn't even the first interaction with a professional baseball team as nine years earlier President Chester A. Arthur welcomed the Cleveland franchise of the National League to the White House.

Having the President throw out the ceremonial first pitch at Washington's home opener was such an enormous success—not only in the nation's capital but around the country—that it led to the American League granting Washington permission to open the American League championship season one day before the rest of the League. This action was approved on December 13, 1927, in recognition of the U.S. President throwing out the ceremonial first pitch.

Including President Taft's precedent-setting throw in 1910, 11 different Presidents have attended a home opener of the Washington Senators a total of 46 times. The Senators posted a 23-23 mark in home openers with a President present.

President Taft (2-0) and Woodrow Wilson (3-0), the 28th U.S. President, were the only two to never see the Senators lose. The only U.S. Presidents never to see Washington win a home opener were Lyndon Johnson (0-3) and Richard Nixon (0-2). Following is the breakdown of Washington's record on Opening Day, listed by President:

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES	WASHINGTON'S RECORD ON OPENING DAY
Woodrow Wilson (D)	3-0 (1.000)
William Howard Taft (R)	2-0 (1.000)
George W. Bush (R)	1-0 (1.000)
Calvin Coolidge (R)	3-1 (.750)
Warren Harding (R)	2-1 (.667)
Dwight Eisenhower (R)	4-3 (.571)
Franklin Roosevelt (D)	4-4 (.500)
Harry Truman (D)	3-4 (.429)
John F. Kennedy (D)	1-2 (.333)
Herbert Hoover (R)	1-3 (.250)
Richard Nixon (R)	0-2 (.000)
Lyndon Johnson (D)	0-3 (.000)
TOTAL	24-23 (.511)
Democrats	11-13 (.458)
Republicans	13-10 (.565)

Prior to the Senators move to Texas in 1972, each President since Taft was in attendance for a Washington Senators home opener at least once. Several Presidents had to miss on occasion, including President Taft in 1914 because of the sinking of the Titanic and President Wilson in 1918 and 1919 because of World War I.

Since 1972, the tradition of Presidents and Opening Day has continued in other Major League cities. The only President to never throw out a ceremonial first pitch at an Opening Day game was Jimmy Carter. President George W. Bush has continued the legacy, having thrown out the ceremonial first pitch at RFK Stadium on April 14, 2005 to usher the return of baseball to the nation's capitol. He also did the honors at Miller Park in Milwaukee in April of 2001.

FRANCHISE OPENING DAY NOTES

FRANCHISE OPENING DAY HISTORY

2008—the Nationals' 4th season in the nation's capital—begins on March 30 as the Nationals host ATL on ESPN's Sunday Night Baseball in the first game at Nationals Park...the March 30 tilt will be Washington, DC's 75th home opener...Oening Day in Washington, DC has long been a baseball tradition, as from 1952-71, the Senators annually opened the American League schedule by hosting a game.

- The Washington Nationals remain in search of their first Opening Day victory...in fact, the Nationals franchise last won a season opener on March 31, 2003 at ATL (Expos 10, ATL 2 at Turner Field)...since then, the Nationals/Expos have lost 4 season openers in a row (L3-4 at FLA in 2004, L4-8 at PHI in franchise's inaugural contest in 2005, L2-3 at NYM in 2006, L2-9 vs. FLA in 2007)

- While Washington is 0-3 in season openers, the Montreal Expos went 18-18 (.500) on Opening Day...the Expos went 15-15 in road openers, 3-3 in Quebec...to date, the Nationals/Expos franchise has opened a season at home only 7 times, compiling a 3-4 mark.

- The Nationals/Expos franchise matches up with ATL for the 3rd time on Opening Day...the Expos went 1-1 against ATL on Opening Day... playing without a suspended Vladimir Guerrero, the Expos pounded ATL, 10-2, on March 31, 2004 at Turner Field thanks to the efforts of Tony Armas (6.0 innings, one earned run), Orlando Cabrera (solo homer) and Leff Liefer (4 RBI off the bench)...on April 8, 1986 at Fulton-County Stadium, Dale Murphy homered and Rich Mahler fired a 5-hit complete game as ATL blanked Bryn Smith and the Expos, 6-0.

WASHINGTON, DC AND THE WORLD SERIES

Washington, DC has hosted three World Series, with the original Washington (AL) Nationals claiming the 1924 World Championship. Washington needed seven games to top the favored New York Giants, a club that was appearing in its 8th World Series in 14 seasons and was managed by John McGraw. The Nationals won despite Walter Johnson losing each of his first 2 starts. However, Washington won, 4-3, in 12 innings as Johnson came out of the 'pen to earn the win in Game 7. The 1924 World Series remains the 2nd of only 4 World Series to be decided in extra innings of the decisive 7th game.

The Washington (AL) Nationals would go on to play in two more Fall Classics, losing both. As defending World Champions in 1925, the Nationals won 92 games and claimed another NL Pennant, but lost to Pittsburgh in 7 games. The Pirates topped the Nationals, 9-7, in Game 7 as Walter Johnson squandered a 4-0 lead after the first inning and eventually suffered the loss. The New York Giants provided payback for the '24 Series by winning the 1933 World Series over the AL Nationals in 5 games.

THE HISTORY OF THE MONTREAL EXPOS (1969-2004)

The city of Montreal had a long association with professional baseball even before it was awarded a Major League franchise in 1968. On April 18, 1946, the Montreal Royals, a minor league affiliate of the Brooklyn Dodgers in the International League, secured their place in baseball history when Jackie Robinson made his professional debut and became the first African-American to play professional baseball in the 20th Century.

More than two decades later as the National League was seeking to expand by two franchises, former Montreal city councillor Gerry Snyder presented the city's formal bid during an owners' meeting in Mexico City, Mexico. Six months later on May 27, 1968, it was announced that Major League Baseball was expanding outside the United States for the first time as Montreal was awarded a National League franchise to begin play in 1969.

Despite some early concerns about the team's financing, Montreal met its initial deposit deadline and officially became a member of the National League on August 14, 1968. Charles Bronfman, a distillery magnate and an original investor, was named chairman with Paul Beaudry and Lorne Webster as vice-chairmen. John McHale was named president and chief executive officer, while Jim Fanning was appointed the team's first general manager.

On September 5, 1968, the Montreal franchise named Gene Mauch field manager. Mauch was returning to familiar ground as he played two seasons for the minor league Montreal Royals in 1943 and 1944. McHale also announced that the team would be known as the Expos, in recognition of Expos 67, an international exhibition that attracted 50 million visitors to the city in 1967.

Only five days later, pitcher Dave Hartman became the first player to sign a contract with the Expos. Hartman never actually played for the Expos or made it to the Major Leagues. However, an expansion draft was conducted on October 14, 1968 and the Expos selected the following 30 players:

Manny Mota, Mack Jones, John Bateman, Gary Sutherland, John Billingham, Donn Clendenon, Jesus Alou, Mike Wegener, Skip Guinn, Bill Stoneman, Maury Wills, Larry Jackson, Bob Reynolds, Dan McGinn, Jose Herrera, Jim Williams, Angel Hermoso, Jim Grant, Jerry Robertson, Don Shaw, Ty Cline, Garry Jestadt, Carl Morton, Larry Jaster, Ernest McAnally, Jim Fairey, Jose Laboy, John Boccabella, Rob Brand and John Glass.

The Expos' first home ballpark was Jarry Park, a converted minor league stadium named after former councillor Raoul Jarry in 1927. Jarry Park's initial capacity was 3,000, but was expanded to 28,450 as the ballpark met MLB standards.

Montreal made its National League debut on April 8, 1969 at Shea Stadium in New York against one of the National League's last expansion teams, the Mets. The Expos held off a furious 9th inning rally to claim an 11-10 victory. Pitcher Dan McGinn hit the first home run in franchise history, a solo shot off future Hall of Famer Tom Seaver in the 4th inning.

Jarry Park hosted its first regular season game six days later as 29,814 fans witnessed Major League Baseball in Canada for the first time. Despite facing a St. Louis Cardinals lineup that featured names such as Lou Brock, Curt Flood, Dal Maxvill and Joe Torre, the Expos treated their fans to an 8-7 win.

One of the highlights of the inaugural season came on April 17 at Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia. Bill Stoneman, later a general manager of the Anaheim Angels, pitched the franchise's first no-hitter in defeating the Phillies, 7-0. The Expos would go on to finish the season with a 52-110 mark.

The following season saw Montreal improve by 21 games under Mauch. 26 year-old pitcher Carl Morton went 18-11 with a 3.26 ERA en route to being named 1970 NL Rookie of the Year. In 1973, the Expos made their first pennant chase as they won 79 games and were in the race for the National League East title until the last weekend of the season.

After a few disappointing seasons, the Expos in 1977 moved into Olympic Stadium, which was the main venue for the 1976 Olympic Games. A crowd of 57,592 fans attended the first game at The Big O as the Expos fell to the Phillies, 7-2.

Montreal begun to form the nucleus of a team that would bring home its first NL East title with players such as Ellis Valentine, Andre Dawson, Warren Cromartie, Gary Carter and Steve Rogers. The Expos won 95 games in 1979 only to fall two games shy of the title and was again in the pennant race until the final game of the season 1980.

In '81, the Expos finally cleared the hurdle as they won the NL East's second half title in a season shortened by a players' strike. In a best-of-5 Divisional Series, Montreal topped first-half champion Philadelphia, three games to two, and advanced to its first NLCS.

The NLCS against Tommy Lasorda's Los Angeles Dodgers went down to the ninth inning of the fifth and deciding game. With the game tied at 1-1, Dodgers outfielder Rick Monday hit a two-out solo homer off Rogers. The Expos put two runners on in the bottom of the ninth, but could not tie the score as Los Angeles advanced to the World Series.

In 1982, Montreal hosted the first Major League Baseball All-Star Game to be held outside of the United States. The National League won its 11th consecutive Midsummer Classic on the strength of a home run by Cincinnati's Dave Concepcion. Five players represented the Expos on the NL squad: Carter, Rogers, Dawson, Tim Raines and Al Oliver.

Montreal remained competitive throughout much of the next decade, including 91 wins in 1987 by a team led by Raines, Andres Galarraga, Hubie Brooks and Tim Wallach.

Bronfman sold the franchise to team president Claude Brochu on June 14, 1991. The next season Brochu appointed long-time Montreal coach Felipe Alou as field manager. Alou guided the Expos to 87 victories and a second place finish in his first year at the helm and then improved upon that with 94 wins in 1993.

The 1994 season saw a core group of players such as Larry Walker, Marquis Grissom, Moises Alou, Pedro Martinez, Ken Hill and John Wetteland storm out to a 74-40 mark - the best in the Major Leagues - and a six-game lead in the newly-formed National League East on August 11. However, the season was never completed. A players' strike began the following day that would wipe out the remainder of the 1994 schedule.

After the changing economics of the baseball landscape forced the Expos to trade some of those core players, the '95 team finished in last place in the NL East. It was only the second time since '77 that Montreal finished in last place.

Two years later, Martinez continued to establish himself as one of the top starting pitchers in the Major Leagues. He posted a 17-8 record with a 1.90 ERA, 305 strikeouts and 13 complete games en route to being the first Expos' pitcher to win the National League Cy Young Award. That winter, Martinez was traded to the Boston Red Sox.

The 1998 season was marked by stellar individual performances on the field and uncertainty off the field. 22 year-old outfielder Vladimir Guerrero displayed his immense talent by setting six Montreal records, including the club single season home run mark. Also, 24 year-old closer Ugueth Urbina recorded 34 saves with a 1.30 ERA, and Alou became the franchise's most successful manager with his 521st victory on August 19.

Off the field, Brochu continued to struggle in an attempt to finalize funding for a new downtown ballpark and announced his willingness to sell his shares of the franchise. In 1999, Jeffrey Loria was officially approved as the Expos controlling person following a buy-back of Brochu's shares. In February 2002, Major League Baseball approved the sale of the Florida Marlins to Loria and the sale of the Expos to Major League Baseball and the 29 other Major League Clubs. A new Expos senior management team was announced: Tony Tavares (president), Omar Minaya (general manager) and Hall of Famer Frank Robinson (field manager). Baseball Commissioner Allan H. (Bud) Selig also announced the formation of a relocation committee to seek a permanent home for the franchise.

The 2003 and 2004 seasons saw the Expos make baseball history by playing a portion of their home schedule at Hiram Bithorn Stadium in San Juan, Puerto Rico. Fans in Puerto Rico celebrated the return of Major League Baseball to the island country. The Expos drew nearly 530,000 fans and posted a 20-23 mark over their 43 games played at Hiram Bithorn Stadium during the two-season trial. On September 29, 2004, Commissioner Selig announced the formal approval of the relocation of the Expos franchise to the nation's capital, Washington, D.C., for the 2005 season.

30 TO 9 IN ONE SEASON?

As part of its 2008 Prospect Handbook, Baseball America ranks the Washington Nationals minor-league system No. 9 among Major League Baseball's 30 clubs...Washington's No. 9 ranking stands in stark contrast to last season, when the Nationals' system ranked 30th in baseball...the Nationals' ranking leap of 21 slots was the second-largest this decade, or since Baseball America began producing its Prospect Handbook in 2001 (Texas leapt 24 slots, from No. 28 to No. 4, in 2008).

"The Nationals' march up our prospect rankings isn't unprecedented, but it's extremely impressive," said Baseball America Editor In Chief John Manuel. "It shows a commitment to building an organization, not just a team, and to building it creatively, through trades for prospects, through the draft and through international signings. The Nats have shown that with the resources they now have, they intend to be players for top amateur talent. General Manager Jim Bowden should be commended especially for the team's 2007 draft class, because he brought in strong personalities and strong talent evaluators to the organization and got them to work together for the common goal of restocking the farm system, and the early returns on the '07 draft class indicate that mission was accomplished."

Prior to 2008, neither the Nationals nor Expos had ranked higher than 16th in BA's organizational rankings.

SERIES NOTES

The Nationals and MIN meet for the 2nd time in as many years in 2007...last season, the Nationals took 2 of 3 at the Metrodome, June 8-10...Washington's 3-1 win on June 9 at MIN was special as its Rule 5 battery of Levale Speigner and Jesus Flores out pitched Cy Young Award winner Johan Santana and (then) defending AL batting champ Joe Mauer...84 of Hall-of-Famer Harmon Killebrew's 573 career home runs came while playing for the Senators (475 with the Twins)...the Nationals, in many ways, are playing their predecessors, as the original AL Senators moved from DC to Minneapolis (actually Bloomington) for the 1961 season...since arriving in Minnesota, the Twins have reached the post-season 8 times, claimed 3 AL flags (1965, '87, 91) and won a pair of World Championships (1987 and 1991).

SERIES NOTES

The Rangers return to The District for the first time since 1971...by the spring of 1972, the expansion Senators had left town to become the Texas Rangers...the Expansion Senators went 740-1032-1 in 10 seasons in DC from 1962-71...on September 30, 1971, the 10,852nd and seemingly final game played in Washington, DC ended in a forfeit win for NYY... the Senators led, 7-5, with 2 outs in the top of the 9th when fans stormed and trashed the field, thus forcing umpires to call the game...Ted Williams' best season as manager came in his managerial debut, as his 1969 Senators won 86 games...he then completed his managerial career as TEX's first skipper in 1972...LHP Mike Bacsik was born and still resides in the Dallas area and is considered a rabid Mavericks fan.

WASHINGTON NATIONALS® 2008 MEDIA GUIDE

WASHINGTON NATIONALS ON TELEVISION — MASN

MASN, the television home of the Washington Nationals, is an independent regional sports network owned by the Nationals and Baltimore Orioles and gives fans unmatched access to the action on the field and inside the game. Before and after each game, MASN carries the exclusive pregame and postgame show, Nats Xtra.

When both the Nationals and Orioles play simultaneously, MASN offers a second channel, MASN2, to provide the live telecast of the other game. All of MASN's cable and satellite distributors also carry MASN2, on a consistent channel throughout the season (visit www.masnsports.com for local listings).

MASN will produce selected Nationals games for broadcast over-the-air on WDCA-TV, Channel 20 in Washington, D.C. Outside of the Washington area, these games are carried on MASN, which is the Official Cable Network of both Georgetown Hoyas and George Mason Patriots basketball.

The network's exclusive television territory covers all or parts of six states and the District of Columbia, from Harrisburg, PA to Charlotte, NC. The network is carried by most cable and satellite providers in the mid-Atlantic region. For more information visit www.masnsports.com.

TELEVISION VOICES OF THE NATIONALS

DON SUTTON

Don Sutton returns for a second season covering the Nationals on MASN after a 23-year Hall-of-Fame playing career (1966-88) and 18 seasons in the broadcast booth as a sports announcer for Atlanta Braves telecasts on Turner Sports. The 62-year-old got his first taste of broadcasting in 1987, when he provided pre- and post-game analysis for NBC's coverage of the National League Championship Series featuring St. Louis and San Francisco. He joined Turner Sports in 1989, one year following his last big league season. Sutton, who was inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame in 1998, has also served as a course reporter on TBS's professional golf coverage, working the Hawaiian Open, PGA Championship and PGA Grand Slam of Golf, as well as TNT's coverage of the Sarazen World Open Championship. Sutton's pitching career was highlighted by four All-Star appearances (1972-73, 1975 and 1977) and a combined 324 wins with the Los Angeles Dodgers, Houston Astros, Milwaukee Brewers and California Angels. He also pitched in four World Series, going a combined 2-3 with a 5.26 ERA with the Dodgers (1974 and 1977-78) and Milwaukee (1982). Sutton spent the first 15 seasons of his career with the Dodgers before joining the Astros as a free agent in 1981. The righthander was traded to Milwaukee in August 1982, and pitched three seasons there before being traded to Oakland in December 1984. Traded to California in September 1985, Sutton pitched for two-plus seasons in an Angels uniform before re-signing with the Dodgers in January 1988. Sutton ranks seventh on baseball's all-time strikeouts list with 3,574 (San Diego's Greg Maddux is the active player closest to Sutton, ranking 11th with 3,273 strikeouts). Sutton earned Sporting News NL Rookie of the Year honors in 1966 and was named MVP of the 1977 All-Star Game. Sutton makes his off-season home in Rancho Mirage, CA with his wife, Mary, and daughter Jackie (10). He also has two adult children: Daron (baseball broadcaster, currently television voice of the Arizona Diamondbacks) and Staci.

BOB CARPENTER

Bob Carpenter enters his 3rd season with MASN and the Nationals after 10 years in the TV booth of the St. Louis Cardinals and more than 20 in the major leagues. The St. Louis native debuted in 1984 with Cardinals baseball on the Sportstime Cable Network, then returned in '95 on KPLR-TV and KMOX Radio. He has been nominated for four St. Louis/Mid-America Emmys, winning twice (1996 and '97). His signature home run call "See ... you ... later!" got local and national recognition during Mark McGwire's record-setting home run chase in '98. Carpenter also appeared on TV in the '80s and '90s with Texas, New York (NL) and Minnesota. One of sports broadcasting's busiest announcers, Bob worked MLB, college basketball and college football during 18 season of play-by-play with ESPN from 1988-2005. He has broadcast baseball playoffs, Triple-A All-Star Games, NCAA and NIT Basketball Tournaments and College Football bowl games. His studio work included College Gameday and College Football Scoreboard shows. During his tenure with ESPN, Carpenter was paired with former major leaguers Buck Martinez, Joe Morgan, Jim Palmer, Ray Knight, Jerry Reuss, Frank Viola and many others. On the basketball side, he worked with Dick Vitale, Bill Raftery, Larry Conley, Jim Valvano among others. Carpenter announced the 2005 NCAA Basketball Final Four in his hometown of St. Louis for NCAA International TV. Prior to ESPN, Bob handled a variety of sports for USA Network, including college hasketball and football, PGA Golf (including The Masters) and professional tennis (including the U.S. Open). Bob has announced numerous soccer events at RFK Stadium, starting as the TV voice of Team America in 1983. He also worked several matches during the 1994 World Cup. Carpenter began his broadcasting career in 1976 as baseball play-by-play announcer with the Tulsa Oilers, then St. Louis' Triple-A affiliate. Carpenter earned a Radio-TV-Film degree with honors from the University of Missouri-Kansas City in 1975. Bob and Debbie, his wife of 28 years, have 2 daughters, Katie and Allison.

WASHINGTON NATIONALS RADIO — BONNEVILLE INTERNATIONAL CORPORATION

On October 17, 2007, the Washington Nationals named Bonneville International Corporation as its radio partner for the 2007 season. The continuity was apprecaited throughout the region, as Bonneville had broadcast Nationals baseball since the franchise moved to DC in time for the 2005 season.

Nationals games can be heard in and around DC on Washington Post Radio (WWWT- 1500AM and 107.7FM), and on one of 8 radio affiliates throughout the Maryland and Virginia, including both Richmond, VA and Norfolk, VA. Ten exhibition games, as well as the entire 162-game regular-season schedule will be broadcast on WWWT in 2008. The Nationals' radio team of Charlie Slowes and Dave Jageler returns intact for a third consecutive season in 2008. Slowes has been with the Nationals since the club's inaugural campaign, while Jageler enters his third season.

Bonneville International, which owns Talk Radio 3WT, WTOP, and Federal News Radio AM 1050 in Washington, DC, is a media company with radio, television, satellite, and advertising properties in Chicago, Phoenix, San Francisco, Washington, D.C., St. Louis, Seattle, Cincinnati and Salt Lake City.

RADIO VOICES OF THE NATIONALS

CHARLIE SLOWES

2008 marks the 11th consecutive season and 15th overall calling Major League Baseball for Slowes, the original play-by-play voice of the Nationals. Slowes joined the Nationals on February 24, 2005, and it did not take long for his trademark "Bang Zoom go the Fireworks," followed by, "A Curly W is in the Books" tag lines to become part of Beltway lexicon. His post with the Nationals was a return to the Washington, DC area for Charlie, who became the Radio Voice of the Washington Bullets in 1986 at just 25 years of age. He went on to broadcast Bullets game for 11 seasons (1986-87-1996-97), the longest run in franchise history. Included in that time were two years of TV-radio simulcasts. Slowes made the switch to MLB full-time, becoming an original voice of the expansion Tampa Bay Devil Rays in 1998, calling Rays games for their first seven seasons. Slowes is among the many, including Hall-of0-Famer Vin Scully, to enter sports broadcasting after graduating from Fordham University in New York and having honed his craft on Fordham's 50,000-FM blowtorch, WFUV 90.7 FM. Shortly after graduation, Charlie's first career job was with KMOX Radio in St. Louis, where for three years (1984-86), he was exposed to the likes of broadcasting greats Bob Costas and the late Jack Buck. Slowes worked in a variety of on-air functions for broadcasts of St. Louis Cardinals Baseball, St. Louis Cardinals Football, St. Louis Blues Hockey and St. Louis University Basketball play-by-play as well as sportscasts and sports talk shows. Charlie broadcast Tidewater Tides Triple-A baseball for parts of four seasons from 1986-92. He has also broadcast at the national network level with NBC-TV and CBS Radio for their MLB Game of the Week. Slowes has also called baseball for the Baltimore Orioles (1989-1990) and the New York Mets (1988, 1991). He's also dabbled in bowling and boxing for ESPN and MISL soccer (play-by-play with New York Arrows in 1983) in two-plus decades as a play-by-play broadcaster. This past off-season Charlie returned courtside for some college basketball play-by-play, filling in on the University of South Florida-ISP Sports Network. Slowes and his wife, Christina, celebrate their 20th wedding anniversary in 2008. The couple has two sons, Jimmy (13) and Alex (10) and split time between homes in Alexandria, VA and Palm Harbor, FL.

DAVE JAGELER

Jageler enters his 3rd season with the Nationals after spending the 2005 campaign as the radio and TV voice of the Pawtucket Red Sox of the Triple-A International League. Jageler joined Gary Cohen (Mets), Don Orsillo (Red Sox), Dave Flemming (Giants) and Andy Freed (Devil Rays) as Pawtucket products who have graduated to the major leagues. Prior to joining Pawtucket , Jageler worked in Boston co-hosting an afternoon talk show as well as serving in various capacities with the Boston Celtics radio network, including fill in play-by-play. Jageler spent six years in Charlotte as the voice of UNC-Charlotte basketball and co-hosting a morning drive talk show. While in Charlotte , he built his baseball resume with the Triple-A Charlotte Knights in the 1995, 1996 and 2001 seasons doing play-by-play. Jageler's voice may sound familiar to some in the D.C.-area, as he served as a host on the Virginia Tech Sports Network during the 1993-94 basketball season. He has also served as the studio host for Westwood One's NHL Game of the Week, the Florida State and Texas Longhorns football networks and has done fill-in play-by-play for both the Seminoles and Longhorns. The Windsor , CT native is a graduate of Syracuse University's S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications, where he began his play-by-play career broadcasting Syracuse football and basketball games on WAER and baseball for the Triple-A Syracuse Skychiefs on Time Warner Cable and Empire Sports Network. Dave and his wife, Jennifer, have two children, Jared (8) and Sarah (4).
